Russia Warns Against Force At Suez Canal

Sees Threat To Spread Of War From That Area

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov warned Britain and France today against any attempt to force Egypt to accept international operation of the Suez Canal. He said it would bring war that might spread beyond the Middle East.

Shepilov spoke at a 22-nation conference on the Suez question after French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau had proposed that Egypt be recognized as owner of the nationalized canal but hand the management over to an international authority linked with the United Nations.

Pineau based his proposal on a plan of Britain, France and the United States outlined by Secretary of State Dulles when the conference opened yesterday. The Big Three called the parley Aug. 2, a week after Egyptian President Nasser nationalized the vital 103-mile waterway.

Britain and France have threatened force if needed to keep the canal open, but Dulles, said they had decided against "immediate forcible action."

The new Soviet foreign minister came to the conference room in Lancaster House from a meeting with Nasser's top political adviser and special envoy here, Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry. Egypt is boycotting the conference, but Sabry arrived last night to watch it from the outside.

The meeting is behind closed doors. Delegations brief reporters texts of some speches.

Shepilov told the conference any effort to force international operation on Nasser would be mean the violation of peace in the Near and Middle East.'

"One cannot fail to see," he added, "that such violation would not be limited to a local conflict in the area of the Suez Canal. It can flame up into a conflict which could cover the area of the Near and Middle East and possibly go outside those limits."

Shepilov, who had charmed delegates yesterday with his disdain for procedural wrangles, turned tough as he laid Russia's plans for the canal on the table. He threw cold water on the main point of the Western plan.

Reds Outlawed By West Germany; 60 Quickly Jailed

KARLSRUHE, Germany, Aug.17 (AP) — West Germany outlawed the Communist party today and swiftly arrested at least 60 Communist officials.

Several tons of Red propaganda material were confiscated in lightning raids on Red headquarters in all the Bonn Republic's nine states.

A ruling of the Federal Constitutional Court banned the party, which claims 80,000 members, as unconstitutional.

During the raids, one car with Communist officials crashed through the wooden zonal border gate at the Helmstedt autobahn checkpoint in an dash to safety in the Soviet zone. Two other cars were stopped before crossing. Communist boss Max Reimann fled East two years ago from a warrant charging him with preparing high treason.

The Karlsruhe court ruled that the Communist party is unconstitutional because its revoltuionary aims were jeopardizing the existence of the Federal Republic and that it was undermining the free democratic order of West Germany. The ruling also banned all successor and substitute organizations and ordered all party property seized.

Usually reliable sources said the party prepared long ago to go underground. Funcionaries at the national headquarters at Duesseldorf themselves called police shortly after the Karlsruhe verdict and scornfully told them to come over. In Bremen, authorities seized a bank account totaling $3.80.

"The Reds had five years time to prepare for this day," said one police officer. "There won't be much property left."

Meanwhile the party's executive committee, in a statement distributed in East Berlin, said: "Communists have always become stronger in a fight. The party will emerge stronger out of this fight, too."

Riesel Case Solved

FBI Says Attacker Of Columnist Paid $1,000, Then Slain By Mobsters

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—UP—The FBI broke the acid binding of labor columnist Victor Riesal Friday with a series of arrests and the disclosure that a young hoodlum made the attack for $1,000. The assailant later was slain apparently because tell tale acid burns on his own face made him "too hot."

Three more underworld figures were arrested and "several" other persons were picked up for questioning about the early-morning attack on Riesel last April 5 just off Times Square.

The FBI said the acid thrower was Abraham Telvi, 21, a petty thief with a record dating back to his teens. Telvi's body, with a bullet in the back of the head, was found last July 28 on a lower East Side street, near the scene of Friday's arrests.

Acting U.S. Attorney Thomas Gilchrist said Telvi got $1,000 in two installments for splashing acid into the face of the crusading labor columnist. He said Joseph P. Carlino, 43, was paid $180 to $200 to arrange the attack, and

GOP Convention

5,000 Expected To Greet Nixon On His Arrival Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17 (AP)—The brighter spotlight turned on the vice presidency by the Democrats at Chicago has changed nothing here, Republican leaders insisted as they arrived today for the Monday opening of the GOP National Convention. It's still going to be Eisenhower and Nixon, they generally agreed.

But Harold Stassen, who wants to dump Vice President Nixon, flew here to try and see if he can still spark a drive for Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Tomorrow Nixon arrives from Los Angeles. San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher said provisions were being made for 5,000 people to meet the plane.

An Eisenhower - Herter headquarters opened today on Market Street. The opening drew only scattered attention.

Herter, who will place Nixon's name in renomination at the covention, has said if his own name is entered he will ask the convention chairman, Joe Martin, to withdraw it.

Sen. Edward J. Thye, of Minnesota, who headed that state's 1952 delegation which was pledged to Stassen, said today he could see "no possibility of Stassen getting SHANNON, Miss., Aug. 17 (AP)—Fire today destroyed the one-story main street building housing the Homan Brothers Bee Co. and Wesley Barnett Cafe.

Mayor Jack Black said the blaze was discovered shortly after 7 a. m. and that volunteer firemen were on the scene within three minutes. He said a power failure resulting from the fire put the municipal water well out of service, preventing the firemen from doing much more than trying to confine the blaze.

Governor Wanted Kefauver

Long's Wishes Rejected In State's Kennedy Vote

By RAYMOND McDANIEL
(Special to The World)

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 — Louisiana stayed to the dramatic end behind John F. Kennedy today in the youthful Massachusetts senator's losing fight for the second spot on the Democratic ticket.

The delegation voted this morning to cast its 24 convention votes for Kennedy as long as he remained in the balloting.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, who defeated Kennedy in a bitter-close battle for the vice presidential nomination, was the personal choice of Gov. Earl K. Long.

But Kefauver's stand against segregation and on tidelads caused the delegates to reject him in the caucus, 34 to 14. He was described by state delegates as a "scalawag, a man who was a southerner and who has gone over to the north."

Under Louisiana's system of operations, all 24 convention votes went to Kennedy, and the delegates never wavered in their stand. They sat quietly in their seats and watching as state after state switched its vote in a landslide of bedlam.

At one point near the exciting end of the balloting, the delegates leaped to their feet screaming as it appeared that Kennedy had won the nomination. But when the Tennesee delegation took the floor to change its votes to Kefauver, the tide quickly took an opposite direction and the rush to get in line behind Kefauver was on.

Louisiana drew loud cheers from the packed convention hall as it became the first state to second the nomination of Kennedy from the floor.

This was done by Mrs. Earl K. Long, vice chairman of the delegation who joined the Governor in his support of Kefauver at the caucus, who announced:

"The grand state of Louisiana seconds the nomination of John F. Kennedy for vice president."

Southern states, with the exception of Tennessee and Florida, backed Kennedy with full strength.

New Tension Mounts Along Gaza Frontier

Egypt Charges Israeli In Deaths Of Nine Soldiers

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Aug. 17 —UP— Egypt charged Friday that Israeli troops killed nine Egyptian soldiers in two raids across the border into Egyptian territory Thursday night and early Friday morning.

The reported flareup of border trouble between the two nations was the worst since UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold visited the Middle East last March.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli sources said they had no knowledge of the incident.

The UN truce supervisory organization in Jerusalem said Egypt complained the Israelis penetrated Egyptian territory near Deirerbalah in the Gaza Strip and at Rafah on the Egyptian-Israeli border and clashed with Egyptian troops.

The UN organization said the Egyptians charged the Israeli patrol at Deirelbalah attacked an Army post and killed three Egyptian soldiers.

At Rafah, the Egyptians charged another Israeli force ambushed an army jeep and killed six soldiers, the truce organization said.

Rafah is on the coast near the former border between Egypt and Palestine.

Deirerbalah is in the Gaza strip, scene of some of the most bitter clashes between Israeli and Egyptian forces during the past 18 months.

The incidents reported by Egypt followed Israeli reports of two clashes with Arabs in the Israeli's Negev desert Thursday in which four persons were reported killed and 14 injured.

Miss. Delegates Decide To Remain At GOP Convention

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Mississippi Lily White Republican delegation will not walk out of the party national convention here after all.

E. O. Spencer of Jackson, national committeeman of the predominantly white faction of the state party, made this plain to newsmen today.

The GOP national committee split the state's 15 votes, giving eight to the Black and Tan faction headed by Perry Howard, Negro attorney and long time national committeeman, and seven to the Lily White group.

Spencer told reporters:

"Because I have pressing business at home, I plan to leave before the convention ends.

"But I am not leaving simply because our full delegation was not seated. We were granted seven seats and we intend to cast seven votes for Eisenhower.

Spencer was a leader in 1952 of the Mississippi Democrats for

Hiliary Carter, Wealthy Natchez Businessman, Dies

NATCHEZ, Miss., Aug. 17 (AP)—Hillary Willis Carter, 60, wealthy Natchez businessman and president for 12 years of the Adams County Board of Supervisors, died yesterday after a long illness.

Services were held at the First Presbyterian Church today, with the Rev. James Johnston officiating.

Carter was a large landowner and had extensive interests in timber, livestock and oil. He helped organize the Adams County Coal Storage Cooperative Assn. and served on its board of directors from its organization until his death.

Carter was generally credited with leading the county-wide multi-million dollar paving program, financed by the oil severance tax, which resulted in paved roads to every important community in the county.

Russell Blasts Rights Platform

ATLANTA, Aug. 17 (AP) — Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga) returned today from the Democratic Convention in Chicago and blasted the Civil Rights plank of the platform as "the strongest the Democrats have ever had."

In an interview, Russell implied he thought the Georgia delegation pulled a boner in not supporting Texas Sen. Lyndon Johnson for the presidential nomination.

Kefauver Nominated As Running Mate For Adlai

Stevenson Accepts Role With Blistering Attack On Ike's Administration

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, Aug. 17 (AP) —Adlai E. Stevenson called tonight for a "rebirth of leadership" so that America can "be herself again."

In a blistering attack on President Eisenhower's administration, Stevenson accepted the Democratic presidential nomination by declaring:

"The country is stalled on dead center—stalled in the middle of the road while the world goes whirling by. . . .

"I say it is time to get up and get moving again. It is time for America to be herself again. And that's what this election is all about. . . .

"What we need is a rebirth of leadership—leadership which will give us a glimpse of the nobility and vision without which peoples and nations perish."

Stevenson's prepared text was couched in strong language. It seemed to bely the picture of moderation which some had gained of him during his strugle to win the Democratic presidential nomination. In lambasting Eisenhower's 'middle of the road" regime, Stevenson contended:

1. Abroad the United States has lost face as well as free world leadership in "the struggle for peace." He called for "new programs to meet the challenge of the vast social revolution that is sweeping the world."

2. At home the small farmer, small businessman and others of low income are "in serious trouble" while the Republicans "have done nothing to help."

"What this country needs," Stevenson told his fellow Democrats, "is leadership and truth. And that is what we mean to give it."

He added:

"Our objectives are not for the timid. They are not for those who

Truman Reverses Stand On Adlai; Says He Can Win

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, Aug. 17—UP— Former President Truman reversed himself Friday night and hailed Adlai E. Stevenson as a fighting presidential candidate "who can win."

Mr. Truman, who had used every ounce of his political power to swing the Democratic presidential nomination to Gov. Averell Harriman, told cheering convention delegates "I am here to give my full support to Adlai Stevenson."

"He's given some of us here a pretty good licking," Mr. Truman admitted wryly. "And he's going to give Eisenhower a better one."

Earlier this week, Mr. Truman had said Stevenson was not a fighting candidate and couldn't beat President Eisenhower this fall without a lot of help.

But Mr. Truman admitted Friday night he had been dead wrong.

"Governor Stevenson is a real fighter, and I ought to know," he said in admission of his convention defeat. "Any man who can take this convention the way he did should be able to take the Republicans next fall."

Mr. Truman said he accepts the convention results "fully and completely" and pledged "I am going to do all I can to help our candidates to victory in November."

He urged all Democrats, "no matter whom you supported before," to get behind Stevenson.

The former President, who had been the key figure in stirring up an unsuccessful last-ditch fight against Stevenson's nomination, said the wrangling had made the Democratic party stronger.

The party 'is stronger than it would have been if we hadn't done a little scraping among ourselves," he said. "And Gov. Stevenson is a stronger candidate because of the way he won the fight for nomination. He won it fairly and squarely. . .I am very well

Republicans To Complete Rights Platform Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17—UP —Republican leaders Friday carved out a rough-hewn version of their 1956 platform with the exception of the vital civil rights plank.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) chairman of the civil rights subcommittee of the convention's platform committee, said his group's recommendations on the sensitive subject would not be ready until Saturday.

The chairmen of the 10 subcommittees and Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), chairman of the overall platform committee, went into closed session late Friday to begin polishing the final versions of the plank. The finished product will be submitted to the 105-member platform committee Saturday for final approval before going to the convention on Tuesday.

Dirksen's group was expected to bring forth a "strong" civil rights plank despite warnings from southern GOP leaders that it would wreck Republican hopes of

Wins Narrow Victory Over Sen. Kennedy

Second Ballot At Convention Gives Tennessean Victory

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, Aug. 17 —UP— Sen. Estes Kefauver, the lanky Tennessee crime hunter, won the Democratic vice presidential nomination Friday in a furious battle with Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Kefauver won the prize as Adlai E. Stevenson's 1956 running mate on the second ballot in the first wide-open vice presidential race in modern political history. Stevenson had ordered it that way.

Kefauver's cherished victory came in a rush of vote switching after the second roll call had closed with Kennedy holding the lead but lacking the 686 1-2 votes needed to take the nomination.

When it came time to change votes, Kefauver's state of Tennessee, which had shunned him throughout the convention, came into his camp. It switched its 32 votes from Sen. Albert Gore, also from Tennessee, and gave them to Kefauver at Gore's request.

The first ballot had closed with Kefauver holding 483 1-2 votes and Kennedy 304. But the second ballot, taken immediately afterward, showed these results:

Kefauver 744.

Kennedy 600.

It was a welcome victory for Kefauver, who lost his chance for the big prize when he bowed out of the presidential race before the convention and threw his support to Stevenson.

In 1952 Kefauver lost the presidential nomination to Stevenson after leading on the first two ballots.

Now the two will face President Richard M. Nixon in the November elections.

An unusual combination of eastern and southern states lined up against Kefauver and for Kennedy. It had the youthful Massachusetts senator close to a majority but failed to put him over when the vote-switching chips were down.

Kennedy threw in the towel in the midst of the vote changes. He came to the platform and urged that Kefauver be nominated by acclamation. There was a loud chorus of "ayes" for the floor, but there were some "noes" too.

Kefauver's nomination was a double defeat for former President Truman, who had backed New York Gov. Averell Harriman in the presidential race against Stevenson.

Mr. Truman has been cool to Kefauver ever sinde 1952 when senator entered the New Hampshire primary against him and beat him. Some party leaders also blamed Kefauver's crime hunting activities for Democratic setbacks in the 1950 congressional elections.

The youthful Kennedy said the balloting proved what a strong and united party the Democratic party is.

"What has happened today bears out the good judgment of Mr. Stevenson that this issue should be taken to the floor of the convention," he said.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York called Kefauver's nomination "a demonstration of democracy with a small and a capital

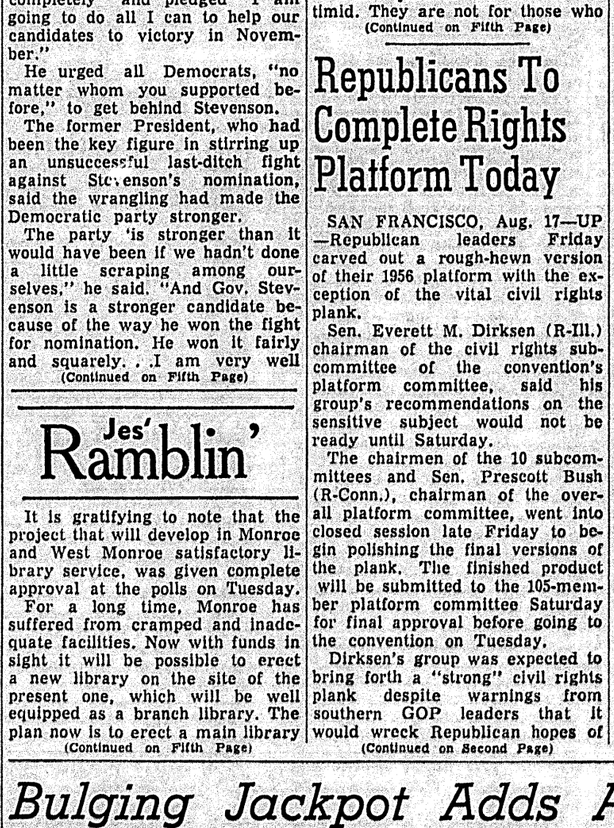
Bulging Jackpot Adds Another $25 To Waistline As Entries Miss Mark



By BONANZA BILL

The $800 jackpot carried with this week's installment of the Morning World's cross word puzzle competition, slipped by untouched as thousands of entries fell short of the correct combination of answers needed to unlock the till.

The jackpot which will be carried with next week's puzzle, will be worth $825.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's solution:

CLUES ACROSS:

2. The term "poultry"includes the roosters. They ought to PAY, of course, but only his HENS ought to LAY!

6. The use of the word "job" is more suitable for BAR. Running a private CAR economically is hardly "a JOB."

8. The word "surprising" points to ROGUE as the best answer. For women to favor certain VOGUES (fashions at the time) should not be surprising.

9. The dictionary says a POSER is an embarrassingly difficult problem. This MUST, if it IS a POSER, present considerable difficulty in

Stevenson Welcomes Kefauver As His Running Mate On Demo Ticket

CHICAGO, Aug. 17—UP—Adlai E. Stevenson Friday welcomed Sen. Estes Kefauver, his former political rival, as a "formidable" vice-presidential running mate. He said the choice, made by the Democratic national convention accord with his wishes, proved the "vitality and virility" of the party.

Stevenson broke off writing his acceptance speech, to be delivered late Friday night, to read a statement to newsmen gathered in his LaSalle Street law office.

"I think that what has occurred this afternoon is clear evidence of the vitality and virility of the Democratic party," Stevenson said, "I am happy that Sen. Estes Kefauver is to be my running mate.

"I know how formidable a candidate he will be because I ran against him in several primaries. He is an old friend and an able leader. I welcome him on the ticket."

Stevenson took time out from the political wars Friday to write his acceptance speech and call on former President Truman, who fought hard but unsuccessfully to block his nomination.

While convention delegates were waging a free-for-all fight over his running mate, Stevenson withdrew to the air-conditioned solitude of his paneled law office on LaSalle street to polish up his speech.

He was scheduled to deliver the address at Friday night's scheduled final session of the Democratic national convention — unless the roaring fight over the party's vice presidential nomination throws the assembly completely off schedule. It well could.

Stevenson, who smashed political tradition by throwing the second-place race wide open, worked alone in his shirt sleeves in his eighth floor office. He sat at a large desk and scribbled with a pencil on a large pad of scratch paper.

Occasionally, he stuck his head in the office of an aide to catch a glimpse of convention proceedings on television or asked for help in looking up references. But he accepted no telephone calls after receiving a single long-distance call from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, congratulating him on his first-ballot victory Thursday night.

The 56-year-old former Illinois governor didn't even take time out to go out for lunch. He munched on a roast beef sandwich and cantaloupe at his desk while writing and re-writing.

Stevenson admittedly was tired after a long, hectic campaign and a host of whirlwind delegate-courting sessions all week. He did not retire until 4:30 a.m. CDT Friday, having played host to a victory celebration in his Blackstone Hotel suite.

The day began at 9 a.m., when he had breakfast with fund-raisers. Then he went to call on Mr. Truman two floors above. It marked the first meeting between the two men since the nomination battle. Mr. Truman favored Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, asserting Stevenson could not defeat President Eisenhower in November.

Stevenson said Mr. Truman telephoned him and offered to come down to see him. Instead Stevenson went up to see the ex-President for a lightning, three-minute visit.

"I paid my respects," Stevenson said.

"Now I am going back to my office and work on my speech."

Stevenson, wearing a blue and white cord summer suit, white shirt and solid blue necktie, then drove to his office in the Continental Illinois Bank Building. His suite is next door to that of former Republican Gov. Dwight H. Green, who was defeated by Stevenson in 1948.

Before withdrawing to his office, Stevenson told newsmen:

"I'm really going to lock up here. Goodbye."

Earlier, some time before he went to bed, Stevenson made his political peace with Harriman, his chief rival for the nomination. In the midst of his victory celebration, Stevenson slipped away from his guests, with his campaign manager, James A. Finnegan, and walked up one flight of stairs to Harriman's suite.

"I'm happy the whole war is over," Stevenson told Harriman.

Mississippi

inee," said Evans. "I'm very happy over what they did."

Evans was named a presidential elector from Mississippi but has promised to resign because of his announced stand against Stevenson.

Gov. J. P. Coleman, who headed Mississippi's 22-vote delegation to Chicago, before the convention had called Stevenson the "best friend of the South" among announced candidates. However, possibly as a result of Stevenson's endorsement last week of the U.S. Supreme Court integration ruling, Coleman in Chicago cast Mississippi's votes for Texas' Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The alternative to voting for a Stevenson-Kefauver ticket in Mississippi, said Evans, would be an unpledged slate of presidential electors sympathetic with segregation and states rights.

Evans said the state convention should be recalled and put such an unpledged slate on the ballot along with the usual slate pledged to cast its electoral college vote for the party nominee.

"What happened at Chicago should increase the probability of a States Rights movement in the South," Evans said. "His nomination (Kefauver's) will weaken the ticket throughout the entire South, which means it will strengthen any independent movement that might get underway."

Such a Southern States Rights movement, he said, might line up behind such Dixie leaders as Gov. Timmerman of South Carolina, Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia or Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia.

Evans said the platform adopted at Chicago "is almost diametrically opposed to every statement of principle which we adopted unanimously in our state convention last month."

A "declaration of party principles" adopted by the state convention opposed integration, "federal encroachment" on States Rights and urged Mississippi delegates to Chicago to uphold that stand.

The convention also adopted a resolution which allows the state executive committee or 20 per cent of state convention votes to call the convention back into session, any time after the Republican National Convention or before the deadline for qualifying a new slate of presidential electors. This was interpreted at the time as a "retreat" which the state party could use if the nominees and platform at Chicago were "unacceptable."

Two Injured In Collision; One Is Police Officer

A Monroe policeman and a Monroe housewife were injured in a two-car collision at the intersection of St. John and Calypso streets about 1:25 p.m. yesterday.

The policeman, R. L. Johnson, 30, 1606 Georgia street, received a sprained back, a laceration of the forehead, and bruises about the legs and Mrs. Rose Trichell, 49, the housewife, received bruises about the chest, lacerations of the left knee, hands and forehead.

Both were treated at local hospitals and released.

Johnson, sole occupant of his vehicle, was treveling north on St. John street when a vehicle driven by Miss Virginia Trichell, 19, daughter of Mrs. Trichell, collided with the officer's auto at the Calypso and St. John intersection.

The girl, who was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license, apparently ran a stop sign, officers said.

Alert Man, Wife Lead To Arrest Of Two Suspects

A Monroe man and wife teamed up here yesterday afternoon and led local law enforcement officers to nab two persons, charging them with attempted forgery and a third companion held as a suspect.

Charged with attempted forgery is Wiley T. Brady, 27, Portland, Arkansas and Eugene T. Shaw, 31, McGee, Arkansas. A third unidentified man is being held pending further investigation.

Making the arrest in a quick-moving chain of events which ended up at the Piggly Wiggly Store at 1501 Louisville avenue, were City detectives, Ouachita parish deputies and Louisiana state troopers.

Mrs. Marie Goleman, cashier at the North fourth street Piggle Wiggly store, set off the chain of events when she refused to cash a check for a man (Brady), posing as Paul T. Miller.

Mrs. Golemon thought the fellow acted suspicious so she sent a youth, who was working in the store, to follow the man out to his car and get his license number.

Securing the license number, Mrs. Golemon called the police and gave a description of the man.

With the next movement, Mrs. Golemon telephoned her husband, R. L. "Dinky" Golemon, 32, assistant manager of the Louisville avenue Piggly Wiggly store, warning him of the man who had tried to cash the check.

Unluckily Brady went to the Louisville avenue store and Golemon was waiting for him.

Detaining Brady, Golemon called police, who were immediately dispatched to the scene. Brady was still standing at the counter waiting for his check to be cashed when he was arrested.

Officers learned that Brady had two companions with him. This set off a 35 minute search which ended with the arrest of the pair a short distance from the grocery establishment.

One of Brady's companions who fled the scene after his arrest, was spotted "strolling" east on Louisville avenue. Officers saw him get into a car. Giving pursuit they soon had him in custody. The third man was arrested in a bar nearby the scene of the attempted forgery.

City detectives, Ouachita sheriff deputies and state troopers, who handled the capture of the trio in an efficient maner had words of high commendation for Mr. and Mrs. Golemon, who were instrumental in the men's capture.

Golemon and wife have been employed for the chain store for a number of years in Louisiana and Texas. Golemon said his wife had been instrumental in a number of arrests of persons who attempted to pass "hot" checks.

The check which Brady tried to pass at both stores was on the First National Bank of West Monroe the scene of the August 10th $9,518 armed, daylight robbery.

FBI Says

Gondolfo Miranti, 37, helped Telvi get away.

Gilchrist refused to disclose who put up the money. However, authorities indicated other arrests were expected.

Carlino, Miranti, and Telvi's brother, Leo, 26, were arrested and ordered held under $100,000 bond each after arraignment before U.S. Commssioner Earle N. Bishopp. Carlino's common - law wife, Norma, also was held under $100,000 bond as a material witness.

Gilchrist said Carlino and Miranti "failed in one opportunity" to kill Abraham Telvi. But he did not say whether they tried directly to do away with the young thug or whether they were connected with his slaying later.

Leo Telvi was held as a material witness. Gilchristi said he drove his brother and Carlino to Youngstown, Ohio, after the attack and should be held in high bail "for his own protection."

Bishopp issued a bench warrant later Friday for the arrest of George and Della Moore of Youngstown. A complaint signed by an FBI agent said Abraham Telvi and his girl friend, Olga Dela Cruz, hid out at the Moore's apartment for more than a week.

Gilchrist refused to comment when asked what motivated the attack, but the case appeared to be connected by the tangled web of the underworld to racketeering in the garment district. Two underworld acquaintances of Abraham Telvi were found slain with an ax on the day Telvi was murdered.

A spokesman said Miranti was in Lindy's Restaurant the night Riesel stopped there with his pretty secretary, Bettie Nevins, 21, after a radio broadcast. The columnist was splashed on the face with blinding acid as he emerged from the restaurant at 3 a.m. and was walking toward his parked automobile at Broadway and 51st St.

Riesel, wearing dark glasses, told a news conference that he and Miss Nevins "never heard of" the men arrested.

"They are complete and absolute strangers to all of us," he said. He added that he "suspects" Telvi was killed "to keep him from talking."

U.S. Attorney Paul W. Williams said the attack on Riesel, who writes for the New York Daily Mirror and nearly 200 other newspapers, was connected with the columnist's scheduled appearance in the labor racketeering investigation. He said Riesel already had given valuable information in the inquiry.

The FBI refused to elaborate on its brief announcement or to speculate on a possible connection between Telvi's slaying and the ax-murder of two of his acquaintances, James Rocereto, 25, and Richard Lagone, 33, whose canvas-wrapped bodies were found in a parked car near Carlino's home the same day Telvi was murdered. Detectives said at the time they believed there was a connection between the slayings.

First Ouachita Bale Claimed By W. Monroe Farmer

J. W. Hightower of West Monroe was named grower of the first 1956 bale of cotton in Ouachita parish, Paul Ransom, chairman of the agriculture committee of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

The bale weighing 535 pounds was ginned by the Standard Ginning Company of Monroe August 10 at 3:10 p.m., Ransom said.

The cotton was hand picked on Hightower's farm about 10 miles out of West Monroe near the Ouachita - Jackson parish line.

Ransome said the DPL-15 cotton was planted early in April and was the first cotton in the parish this year.

The winning bale will be on display in the lobby of the Ouachita National Bank all next week and will be auctioned off Saturday, August 25 at 10 a.m. to the highest bidder.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 —UP— Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty laughed Friday and said "sure" President Eisenhower can beat Adlai E. Stevenson again.

Hagerty broke his week - long blackout on political comment when a reporter asked if he believes "the President can beat Stevenson again."

"Just say I laughed and then said 'sure,'" Hagerty said.

This is as far as the White House has gone in commenting on Stevenson's landslide nomination Thursday night as the Democratic 1956 presidential candidate.

Eisenhower and later switched his party affiliation to the GOP.

Wirt Yerger Jr., a Lily White delegation leader, said that "under no circumstances" would his group sit with the Howard delegation "because of his record in Mississippi and as a matter of principle."

"We have the privilege of the floor and probably will be there," Yerger told a newsman.

"This entire setup means the end of the Howard group and the S. W. Miller group," Yerger said.

"The (national) committeeman and woman that are elected next term will be elected as a result of the processes initiated by our group—the Mississippi Republican Party.

"We are considering E. O. Spencer as our national committeeman and Mrs. J. Balfour Miller as our national committeewoman.

"It already has been agreed that our state executive committee represents the only Republican party in Mississippi and will be recognized as such by the Republican National Committee.

"I'm to be recognized fully as state chairman which in effect is the end of the Howard group. He is still going to be committeeman but he will not have any organization whatever.

"We will have Mr. Spencer as liaison with the Republican National Committee for matters of patronage and other matters."

Howard could not be reached for comment. He has been national committeeman from Mississippi for many years. Howard practices law in Washington but maintains his official residence in Jackson.

Spencer, in a previous statement, said his group could not accept Howard as head of the party in the state and that "the Mississippi Republican party is not going to participate in the convention."

The Lily White group is recognized under state law as the official Republican party in Mississippi.

Arkansan Critical After Auto Rams Service Station

State police last night were still investigating an accident in which a 27-year-old Little Rock man rammed his auto into a service station on DeSiard Road early Friday morning.

Dewey Mitchell, the injured man, was in critical condition in the St. Francis Hospital yesterday and State Police were unable to interview him because of his condition.

He was reported to have serious head injuries, severe cuts on the skull and general contusions.

Mitchell ran into the Lakeside Esso Center at 5111 DeSiard Road about 2 a.m. Friday, according to State Police. The collision broke three glass plate windows, smashed a brick wall and cracked another brick wall.

Damages amounted to $150 in merchandise and considerable damage was done to the building, according to P. J. Scalia, owner.

building the two-party system in the South.

Dirksen declined to say whether the platform would specifically mention the U. S. Supreme Court's ban on school segregation. He would say only that it would be a "clear and unequivocal" statement of principles.

Meanwhile, other subcommittees ended their work in a down-the-line endorsement of the Eisenhower administration's record.

Typical of the way the platform drafting was going was the work of the labor and welfare subcommittee headed by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N. Y.) who said flatly "there will be no departure from the President's program in our plank."

Ives said the labor and welfare plank would urge expansion of social security benefits and extension of the minimum wage but probably would not specify the groups that would benefit.

He said there also would be "a very definite" plank opposing discrimination in employment by reason of race, color or creed.

The Taft-Hartley act also would be mentioned, Ives said, but only in reference to President Eisenhower's recommended revisions.

The cook, Rosie McMillan, was hospitalized in Jackson with a broken rib and head injuries.

Long's Wishes

In the Louisiana delegation, there was more excietement for the vice presidential race than in the presidential contest, as the state had voted to back Adlai Stevenson before the convention even started.

But the vice presidential preference was not sought until this morning, as delegation leaders felt this should be delayed until the presidential nominee had a chance to state his choice.

Louisiana and Massachusetts delegations sat directly across the aisle from each other throughout the convention. Many of the state's members on the delegation worked actively for Kennedy.

Gov. Long has often expressed favoritism for Kefauver, but Camille Gravel, who is a member of the National Democratic Executive committee and served as chairman of the state delegation, was opposed to him.

Gravel's first choice was Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement, and his second was Kennedy. Clemente and Kennedy visited the delegation this morning at a breakfast, and Clement said at the time that he was not a candidate.

So Gravel led the fight to put Louisiana behind Kennedy.

And, strangely, it was the same Clement who helped touch off the landslide to Kefauver that ended Kennedy's dreams of being the 1956 Democratic vice presidential nominee.

When Louisiana was reached at the roll call the first time Gravel said:

"Louisiana casts its 24 votes for the next vice president of the United States, John F. Kennedy."

On the second roll call, which came just as Kennedy was picking up strength and Kefauver losing it, "The state of Louisiana is proud to cast its vote for the next vice president, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Shortly afterwards, Texas threw its heavy support behind Kennedy and his nomination victory seemed assured. But at the exact moment when Louisiana delegates were screaming their confident cries of victory, Tennessee obtained the floor, and with its fateful switch from Sen. Albert Gore to Kefauver stemmed the rush.

Immediately before the time Tennessee switched, Louisiana Congressman Hale Boggs rushed down to the packed floor to assure the delegation that "Kennedy has it in the bag."

Kefauver was one of three southern senators who refused to sign the southern manifesto, which set out the South's position on segregation in forceful terms.

The delegation from Louisiana up until today was well-pleased over the South's achievements in the convetion, particularly on the civil rights plant and the nomination of Adlai Stevenson for President.

But the razor-edge defeat of Kennedy today erased much of this.

Kennedy was the first potential candidate to visit the Louisiana delegation at today's caucus. Earlier, he had paid a visit to Gov. Long and had been in close contact with other state leaders.

He told the delegation that his purpose in the visit was to ask Louisiana "to vote for son of Massachusetts." He said he was mainly interested in seeing the Democrats win the election, and said he felt this could be done if the South and border states held fast and if the Democrats could gain in the pivotal states and in the east.

Gov. Clements said he did not believe he would be a candidate, but said that if he did decide to run, he would like Louisiana's support. He was never nominated.

Both Gov. Long and Gravel made reference to a reported coolness between them at the caucus, and both said that the convention had been a harmonious one as far as the state delegation was concerned.

Griffin Hawkins of Lake Charles presented the name of Kennedy to the delegation, and a number of delegates, including Gravel, spoke for him.

Frank Odom of Baton Rouge offered Kefauver's name, which also drew a number of other speeches in behalf of the Tennessee campaigner. Clement's name was also entered, but withdrawn when the delegation decided to choose between Kefauver and Kennedy.

Congressman Edwin Willis of the Third District said that Kennedy had voted against the farm parity bill and that it was probably true that this would cost him some votes. However, he said, Kefauver also has "several marks" against him, including his stand on segregation and the Louisiana tidelands.

"Kefauver is not acceptable to Louisiana," he said.

Gov. Long said he was not attempting to dictate his choice, and urged the delegation to vote for the candidate it felt would make the best man.

But he said he believed Kefauver is the best campaigner available, and urged the delegation to give him serious consideration.

"There are some names being suggested that we can't carry in Louisiana," he warned. "Humphrey (Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota) is one of them.

"I'm no worshipper of Kefauver but he's a real vote getter," he said. "Kennedy may be the downfall of this ticket, and I think Stevenson is the best man to be president. But you think like you want."

Voting to support Kennedy were councilman Fred Cassibry, James Comiskey Jr., Ralph Jackson, Jim Wilkinson, Jules Mollere and Michael Burke of the first and second districts; Romeal Theriot, Gabe Ackal, Leon Gary and Clifton Dolese and Willis of the third; Dr. W. H. Browning, Joe Pernici, former U. S. Senator W. C. Feazel and T. B. Lanford of the fourth district; C. E. Barham, Dr A. E. McKeithen and Congressman Otto Passman of the fifth; Eddie Carmouche, Hawkins, Judge Edmond Reggie and Judge Al Tate of the seventh; Gravel, T. E. Wells of the eighth; Mrs. Monroe Labouisse of New Orleans, Mrs. Mary Bourgeois of New Iberia, Giraud Foster of Clinton, Sen. J. D. Debleiux of Baton Rouge, Guy Humphrye of Alexandria, Elayn Hunt of Baton Rouge, Louisiana Supreme Court Justice John Fournet, Stephen Lemann of New Orleans, W. C. Atthens and Mrs. Hale Boggs of New Orleans.

Voting for Kefauver were Mrs. Charlotte Aiken of New Orleans, former Gov. James A. Noe, State Committee Chairman Rufus Hayes, Aubrey Hirsch of New Orleans, J. H. McClendon of Amite, Sen. B.B. Rayburn, Theo Canglosi and Mrs. Margaret Dixon of Baton Rouge, Mrs. Edgar Stern of New Orleans Mrs. Cora Schley of Alexandria and Dr. Nicholas Trist of St. Bernard.

Army Aviation Stressed At Reserve Meeting

Monroe area Army reserve officers were encouraged to seriously consider a career as Army aviation officers at the Thursday night meeting at Selman field. Lt. Col. Adam McDonald and Captain Francis C. Bennett, a Monroe Army reservist currently on two weeks active duty as an Army aviator, spoke to the group.

The 27 - year - old Monroe captain began his military career as an ROTC cadet at Louisiana State University where he was commissioned second lieutenant of artillery, upon graduation from the school of forestry in 1950.

He entered upon active duty shortly after graduation, and after spending six months at Fort Chaffee, Ark., Captain Bennett was flown to Korea.

In action there, he earned the Silver Star medal; air medal with three Oak Leaf clusters (showing that the medal had been won four times in all); Purple Heart medal; Korea Service medal; and the United Nations ribbon.

Upon release from active duty in 1952, Captain Bennett returned to Monroe and continued military training one night a week at Selman field with Battery B, 429th field artillery battalion.

In 1953 Captain Bennett attended a five - months flight course in fixed - wing aircraft at Gary Air Force Base, San Marcos, Texas.

His next course of instructions was a four-months course in tactics which he attended at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. After completion of this course, Captain Bennett was designated Army aviator, and has participated in that capacity since 1954.

Captain Bennett, a strong enthusiast of the aviation program, has requested extended active duty, and will be called for an indefinite period sometime next month.

Demos Approve Left-Wing Radical Platform

The tumult and the shouting have died at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, and two left-wing, ADA and AFL-CIO backed candidates have been nominated as standard bearer and running mate—Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The platform approved at the convention commits the Democratic Party to extremes of socialism and welfare-state measures exceeding anything proposed even in the halycon days of the New Deal and the Fair Deal.

Except for the double-meaning so-called "civil rights" plank, a supposed sop to the embittered South, it is a platform that no doubt will meet the wholehearted approval of the American left wing and the British Laborites and the various brands of French Socialists, and parlor pinks of all nations.

In its renewed pledge for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, reenactment of something exceeding the old discredited Wagner Labor Relations Act, and various new "benefits" intended as bait to attract the vote of organized labor, this platform represents a triumph for such men as Walter Reuther and George Meany.

The public resources plank is designed to bring about eventual public monopoly on the production and distribution of electrical power, whether generated from falling water or nuclear energy.

The "Civil rights" plank, insofar as it applies to the race issue in America, contains eulogies of the U. S. Supreme Court's decisions on integration, coupled with the ambiguous assertion, "We reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts." In other words, against any "force" applied by the South to hinder or prevent integration.

In a slap at Southerners who have approved the ancient doctrine of interposition, the platform "recognizes the Supreme Court of the United States as one of the three constitutional and coordinate branches of the federal government, superior to and separate from any political party, the decisions of which are part of the laws of the land."

Here is the first instance, perhaps, where a national convention specifically recognized the "law-making" powers of the U. S. high tribunal.

The constitution of the United States nowhere grants legislative authority to any court, high or low. The entire weight of Southern objections to the integrations rulings has been and is that these are an unconstitutional grab of legislative and executive power.

Traditionally the champion of low tariffs and free trade, the Democrats at Chicago switched over to the Hamiltonian doctrine of high tariffs—and in this they were urged on by the AFL-CIO.

It is significant that the entire battle over "civil rights" on the convention floor was waged between advocates of the eft-wing platform plank adopted by the convention and a group of radicals who wanted to make the language even stronger.

Not a Southern voice was raised from the floor in defense of the Southern viewpoint. The burning issue of federal usurpation of power at the expense of the states, communities and individuals of our nation found no conservative champion, and as far as convention addresses were concerned this issue—vital to all states and the people generally—was shunned like a plague.

Know What You're Voting For

Town Journal has a high regard for the intelligence of the American electorate. The magazine says editorially: "We believe that plenty of politicians bark up the wrong trees when they appeal solely to the immediate self-interest of voters. The great majority of Americans have the common sense to know that 'government money' all comes from somebody in taxes. They know, even though they may not think about it every day, that individual liberty is too precious to be traded for temporary federal favors."

Then Town Journal lists some of the great issues that face the nation today: "Is the federal power to be entrenched further with less remaining to state and local governments? Are we following the right policies for assuring peace? What course of action will best improve agriculture's prosperity? How can the cause of 'civil rights' be advanced without aggravating racial tensions? Can government do more to harmonize the common interests of agriculture, labor, industry and consumers? Can spending be reduced, taxes lowered, and payments made on the national debt? Shall the federal government assume new responsibilities in education?"

It is the duty of candidates for high office to make their positions clear on such vital questions as these. It is the duty of the voters to carefully evaluate those positions before marking their ballots. This is not a partisan matter. There are men in both parties whose overriding goal is to maintain a government which is the servant, not the master, of the people. And there are men in both parties who have succumbed to the lure of all-powerful government—the kind of government which must ultimately destroy human freedom.

Vote! But before you do that, know what you're voting for.

Reducing Useless Tasks

Midwestern reservists training now at Camp McCoy, Wis., are leading a life that would astonish old soldiers — no KP and no guard duty. In fact, they aren't even taking physical training or long marches to firing ranges.

But most satisfying to the civilian soldiers must be the thought that 3,000 regular Army men and civilians are doing the dish-washing and pot-scrubbing duties and guarding the motor pools and ammunition dumps.

Is the Army getting soft? The commanding officer of one of the regiments now attending the camp, Col. Joseph H. Crawford of Kansas City, Mo., explains it this way:

"We have just two weeks in camp each year. The important thing is training, and a man on KP and guard or any other detail is losing a chance to learn something important."

How true! Many a private who underwent training in World War II would agree heartily.

But what is amazing is that higher officers didn't see it. The German army did. It used limited service troops or civilians to do the chores so its troops could spend full time training.

Perhaps the peacetime Army clung to many of these practices simply because there isn't enough else to do. But this wise practice for reservists with limited training time might well be put into use by the Army if there is a new crisis requiring speeded-up training of troops.

Not Pocketbook-Deep

This country may be experiencing a religious revival of sorts, but it apparently doesn't extend to the pocketbook level. In fact, the percentage of giving in relation to total personal income after taxes is slightly lower than it was in 1930, when the great depression was just starting.

According to government reports Americans in 1930 gave $875 million to their churches and other religious organizations, or about 1.17 per cent of their income after taxes.

In 1954, the most recent year for which complete reports are available, the American public gave $2.85 billion to religious organizations. But because of the enormous increase in income, that figure represents only 1.11 of total income after taxes.

That, by the way, is far below the so-called "Biblical tithe" which most denominations in principle list as the yardstick of giving. It is of interest, however, that more than half of the money Americans give to all the "worthy causes" goes to some religious organization. That figure has remained fairly constant over the years and in 1954 was 53 per cent.

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

Campaign Speeches

While the master minds at any convention are busy making their deals, the delegates are usually amused by a torrent of oratory. The orators are selected either because they are currently important or because they are prospectively significant. The greatest of such orators for all time was William Jennings Bryan who carved out a career for himself by his gift for speech.

Bryan had no microphone to help him and was fortunate in the possession of a glorious, soul-touching voice, the lower register of which was as moving as Edouard de Reszke's of those years. The microphone seems to have ruined oratorical voices because the speakers no longer possess great lung power but have learned rather to contort themselves within the narrow radius of the microphone, which, if it should unfortunately go dead for a moment, leaves upon the ear the inarticulate sounds of a pip-squeak.

William Jennings Bryan not only possessed a voice but he knew his native tongue, English, a rare advantage in any days. He was of the tradition of Daniel Webster and Henry Ward Beecher, men who spoke their language with precision and beauty. His "Cross of Gold" speech in the 1896 Democratic convention unexpectedly won his nomination for the presidency. Bryan was a Populist and what he said he meant and this is demonstrable by his consistency until he died after serving the Woodrow Wilson administration. His span was long and his profession was oratory.

Bryan naturally came to mind as one listened to the keynote speech by Governor Frank Clement of Tennessee if only as a contrast. Bryan was eloquent; Clement was forensic. The difference is not only in the spirit of man but in the grasp of content. Clement harangued. It was what could be called a fighting speech, but whom was Clement fighting? Certainly his "Nixon, Dixon and Yates" did not reflect unfavorably upon anyone but raised the ghost of "Martin, Barton and Fish," the Rooseveltian trio that was intended to amuse not to castigate.

Nor did it become a Democratic keynoter to refer to President Eisenhower's illness, considering that Franklin D. Roosevelt was a very sick man but four times a candidate and elected and the fourth time obviously on the verge of death. And among the Democrats, Lyndon Johnson is a cardiac case and Stuart Symington has high blood pressure; and among the Republicans, Christian Herter suffers from arthritis. When men pass 50, they get things and it really makes little difference. Harriman came out of an operation to run for the presidency—an operation which a quarter of a century ago frightened the families of those who had to undergo it but today is routine.

So, it would seem that Clement stooped too low to make an unnecessary point which were he not so young, he would not have thought proper. In fact, only he and Nixon seem to be whole, but who knows for how long? The sort of ad hominem oratory that Frank Clement practiced is usually relished at the moment as one belly-laughs at seeing a fat man slip on a banana peel. If the Democrats criticize Nixon for his rough-and-tumble speech-making in 1954, Clement has outdone Nixon.

None of this is really necessary, particularly at a time when the President had to call leading Democrats away from their convention to lay before them the national peril in the Suez situation. Anyone can poke fun at John Foster Dulles who lays himself open all the time, probably because, doing his job, he does not care. Nevertheless, a thoughtful man would try to remember that Dulles inherited a whole series of problems that have been in the making since World War I and are now coming to a head historically. A thoughtful man would not imperil Dulles' usefulness at a moment when he must negotiate with a great number of antagonistic or diffident powers. Frank Clement may have relished the cheers of his audience, but did he ask what kind of an audience Dulles will face in London on the 16th of this month when he needs to try to keep the United States out of war without damaging our entire defensive structure? Clement probably never gave it a thought. He was just delivering a "campaign speech," which no one is supposed to take seriously, not even he who delivers it.

POLITE ROBBERS

BOSTON — (UP)—Two bandits, who escaped with $330 from a grocery store, paused long enough to wait courteously on a customer. Store owner Walter Biskupek, bound with piano wire in a back room, said the men even carried grocery bundles to the woman's automobile.

OLD HOUSES

CHICAGO — (UP) — Statistics show that almost half the houses in the United States are over 30 years old. According to the 1950 census 65.8 per cent of the 45,875,000 dwelling units had been built prior to 1929, and 45.6 per cent prior to 1919.

NEW HAT

BROCKTON, Mass. — (UP) — Judge Anthony Kupaka told Gordon H. Scully Jr., acquitted on charges of shooting a raccoon after explaining he thought it might bite his children, to "skin the animal and make a hat for yourself."

CONFUSED STREET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (UP) — A street that was both one-way and two-way created chaos here. The Cambridge - Somerville city line passed through White Street. But when Cambridge decided to make White Street a one-way street, it neglected to notify Somerville. It was several days before the confusion was ended.

SMART POLITICIAN

CLEVELAND, O. —(UP) — William T. Monroe, a Democratic candidate for the Ohio House of Representatives, did not receive his party's endorsement, but he has figured out a way to have his name mentioned at its rallies. When he drives his well - postered car to Democratic meetings, he leaves it parked with the headlights on. Invariably the chairman calls his name out to tell him his lights are burning.

BUT HOW MANY SATISFIED CUSTOMERS?

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Personal Recognition

Nobody who is really alive can be happy unless he feels he is being recognized as a personage. Children, being human, have this same need. Even the very young ones. A three-year-old will beam like a full moon when he is told, "This is your own chair" or "This is your place at the table."

Often, especially in larger families, this trait is overlooked. Tommy takes Eddie's cherished wagon, Susie take Charlotte's pet sweater; Dicky seats himself in Eddie's special corner. When an appeal to "Mother-r-r" is screamed through the house, she says in helplesss tones,"Oh, let him have it. What's the differnence? You can have it again when he is through with it."

That makes confusion, brings on disorder, creates ill feeling all around Eddie will "get even" with Dicky. Charlotte is likely to take revenge on Susie, and there is no peace in the household, because each child feels he is forced to battle for his rights. You see "rights" mean the respect for his personality, his need of feeling himself a personage of importance. Possessions are the symbols of importance to him, and he defends them with all his might.

This right is made plain to the children when they learn that that right will be upheld by authority, they will all feel better, behave better toward each other, and there will be more peace in the house.

If a grown-up person should ask himself how he would feel if another member of the household calmly sat in his special chair and took up the book he was reading, he would have an idea how a child whose claim for recognition rested on respect for his rights felt when his pet possesssions were appropriated. Only the child, being so dependent upon his rights, feels a lot worse.

If at the outset, the children were taught to ask permission to use another's place, possession, or rights, and get it before taking over, the family antagonisms that so often disrupt the peace would be greatly lessened. This requirement of all members of the family will make for good manners, good morals, and nicer behavior.

There is no hope that any method of training and discipline will make a household a vale of peace and quiet. Children will be noisy, they will argue, they will struggle for first place while they have breath to declare their rights, but there will be less of turmoil and more of peace if some degree of personal recognition of each member of the family is demanded and upheld by authority. And it is not only for the peace of the household we do this. It is primarily for the mental and spiritual development of the children. That accomplished there will be real peace.

A child who cannot read properly often has trouble with other studies too, because he does not understand what he reads. How parents can help their child is outlined by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P—31, "Poor Readers." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. When In Rome, Etc.: What a to-do at the Titanus Studio reception for the cast of "Monte Carlo" starring Marlene Dietrich, Vittorio de Sica and Renato Rascel when the glamorous grandma threw her gloves at 16-year- old Natalie Trundy. Natalie is an American starlet, who thefted the movie right from under Marlene's noted underpinning. Hassle happened when photogs prepared to take a group picture of the stars. The youngster (who looks 18 and is stacked like Gina) walked over to get in the photo, but Marlene protested and tossed the gauntlets. Natalie burst into tears requiring consoling —especially from actor Arthur O'Connell.

The atmospheric Rathskeller reeks with nostalgia. Joe's intelligent operation of it is such that second thoughts are generated about the current agitation to raise the drinking age from 18 to 21, as in surrounding states (where kids old enough to die for their country aren't allowed a glass of beer) so they go hog - wild on bottled bootleg or come to N. Y. and upset our peace. There is much to be said against juvenile drinking (or any drinking for that matter) but when is a 20-year-old (married and a father or mother) a juvenile? It's Joe King's contention that kids don't like hard - liquor (preferring soft, sweet drinks) and only guzzle when it's smart because it's illegal. In N. Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Laymen are usually embarrassed about mentioning the obvious faults of their clergymen. So it is often very tactful just to mail them such a column as today's Case Record, using a plain envelope. For speakers who are indirect, seldom realize they are failing. It may require an outside prod to jolt them out of their complacency.

Case S-342: Sam T., aged 31, is a scholarly clergyman.

"But, Dr. Crane, his sermons are so dull that he often puts people to sleep," protested the head of the Women's Society of his church.

"I feel that people come to church to get a message that will inspire them for the next week.

"But our pastor actually is driving folks away. Our young people used to attend in fair numbers but for the past month we haven't had more than three or four teen-agers present.

"My husband also used to go with me, but he says he can sleep just as well at home so why get shaved and dressed on Sunday morning just to do that.

"Shouldn't ministers be good salesmen of religion? And doesn't this mean they should be interesting speakers?

"Doctors and teachers often take 'refresher courses', so why wouldn't it be a good idea for clergymen to do the same?"

"The more scholarly the clergyman," runs an old axiom, "the poorer speaker he usually is."

That isn't always true, but it certainly applies many times. And yet it shouldn't, for men with extra college degrees should be even BETTER speakers, not poorer orators.

However, many of them shun people during their seminary days and hide away in libraries. They are surrounded by books, instead of people.

The same is often true of many scientists in our colleges. As a rule, the young instructors give more interesting lectures than the heads of departments!

For the young teachers understand the students much better and can talk their language. They also employ humor that is up-to-date.

The first requisite in a successful clergyman, assuming that he is essentially a consecrated man at heart, is oratory.

If he can't make an interesting speech, then he should go into some other phase of religious work where public speaking is not so important, or else quickly learn the prescription for a dynamic sermon.

Christ gave us that simple, surefire formula. It is what we psychologists call the "narrative or episodic" technique.

Start out with a striking text. Then illustrate it with actual cases, told in narrative fashion. Conclude with a punchy, dramatic paragraph that ties the wheat in the sack.

You can thus visualize a good speech as being similar to a string of pearls. The golden clasp is the rich opening text. Then the motif or central theme of the sermon is the wire on which the beads are strung.

Each separate pearl is comparable to a story or case that is both relevant and packed with human interest. The punchy conclusion serves as the other half of the golden clasp by which the strand is fastened together securely.

Everybody of normal intelligence can soon learn to become an interesting speaker by following this "narrative" formula.

Jesus used local stories, called parables. If Christ were alive today, he'd undoubtedly document his addresses with newspaper stories and actual cases, such as these patients described in this educational column.

Mild humor of a relevant nature is always helpful even in a sermon, for you can obtain a higher "rebound" effect by alternating laughter with tears.

Each mood then accentuates the other, as all experienced speakers realize.

And try to work the names of 3 or 4 parishioners into your address, being sure they fit into the theme relevantly.

O. J. Smith, of 109 Pershing, admits he is quite pleased with his present job which he has filled as caretaker at the Bernstein Park Zoo. He formerly was employed as a mechanical superintendent in the federal building here, but two years ago he accepted a place which was open for him at the Zoo.

"I like it mighty well," he declared, "for it keeps me out in the open and I haven't been ill a day since I went there." Asked if he has any really wild animals in his custody he declared that two "bars" (bears) are out there and are receiving good care.

Many young children of the Twin Cities and vicinity visit the municipal Zoo often and delight in watching just how animals behave.

Progress is being made on the reconstruction work at what was formerly the Earl hotel. The main part of the structure has been transformed and renamed Magnolia Manor and is now being occupied by many who find there a homelike place to live.

The newest addition to the old hostelry is Penn hotel, named for a relative of J. O. (Red) Willett and is to have an entirely new lobby and offices created on the ground floor. The old Earl hotel annex that faces the courthouse on Wood street will be razed in order to make space for an expansive parking lot for use of Penn hotel patrons.

HAPPY OVER ADLAI'S NOMINATION — This was the reaction of members of Adlai Stevenson's family in the convention hall in Chicago, Ill., when the Democratic convention named him their presidential nominee for 1956. look backwards, who are satisfied with things as they are, who think that this great nation can ever sleep or ever stand still."

The nominee told the party delegates that they have written a platform that can serve as "a sign post toward that new America."

Stevenson took the occasion to welcome former President Truman to his side again.

"I salute the distinguished American who has been more than equal to the great test of disagreement and has now reaffirmed our common cause so graciously, former President Truman," Stevenson said.

"I am glad to have you on my side again, sir!"

The presidential nominee, in talking about a 'new America,' said:

'I mean a new America where poverty is abolished and our abundance is used to enrich the lives of every family.

"I mean a new America where freedom is made real for all without regard to race or belief or economic condition.

"I mean a new America which everlastingly attacks the ancient idea that men can solve their differences by killing each other."

Stevenson said he will work toward those goals with every resource he possesses, and he added:

"These are the terms on which I accept your nomination."

Stevenson acknowledged that there has been disagreement in the party on desegregation but said the party program on that subject 'has spoken the only way a truly national party can — by the understanding accommodation of conflicting views."

"In so doing," he added, "in substituting realism and persuasion for the extremes of force or nullification, our party has preserved its effectiveness. It has avoided a sectional crisis, and it has contributed to our national unity as only a national party could."

Stevenson said he would work toward "fuller freedom for all our citizens." He said he does not plan to make "political capital" out of President Eisenhower's "illness."

He added: "His ability to personally fulfill the dmands of his exacting office is a matter between him and the American people. So far as I am concerned that is where the matter rests.'

As for himself, Stevenson said he wishes the President health and well-being.

"But if the condition of President Eisenhower is not an issue as far as I am concerned," he said, "the condition and the conduct of the president's office and of the administration is very much an issue."

Stevenson said "the men who run the Eisenhower administration" apparently believe that citizens' minds can be "manipulated by shows, slogans and the arts of advertising."

Neville Tigerettes Hold First Meeting Monday Morning

Neville High School's Talented Tigerettes begin before the new school year with their first meeting Monday morning at 9 o'clock according to Mrs. Eunice Dunn.

At this initial session the pep squad will devote most of their time to preliminary organizational purposes. One of the first projects will be to obtain advertising to handle the publication of the home football programs. It is anticipated that this business will take about a week in which to complete.

Regular marching practice is scheduled to begin about August 30 with intensive drilling sessions planned, at that time, for the first game of the season will be less than two weeks away. The first football contest pits Neville against the Rebs from West Monroe on Brown Field Friday, September 7, at 8 o'clock p.m.

During the beginning of the marching session only somewhat simple steps will be practiced, leading to the more difficult ones which will follow several days later. Various formations to be used at the halftime periods of the games will be treated in a special manner to assure precision showmanship.

Carol Cage is senior drill commander and Sally Hinkle alternate commander, of the Tigerette group with Mary Elizabeth Webster's serving as president. All three girls are not only outstanding leaders in the Neville pep squad, but also excell in both scholastic and other extra-curricular activities.

In order to become a Tigerette, a girl must at least be a freshman, maintain minimum "C" average in class work, train hard, give full cooperation and time to the coed organization. Rules and regulations of the pep squad are rigidly enforced and almost always adheared to by the approximately 165 girls organization.

ALL cases. POKER, the basis of which is mathematical chanches, should present little difficulty to a really clever man.

11.If he's not particularly interested in his garden, he may DETECT pests and just do nothing about it. The fact that he DETESTS pests will make him more eager to get rid of them.

13. Since the clue describes him as a former friend, we assume he is no friend now. It would, therefore, appear as though to SEE him might not be possible or not effective.Thus, to SUE might be the only way to settle.

16. RULE is more apt. "Richard III" IS a ROLE, and "may suggest" a RULE.

23. What a worker wants is some sort of ADVANCEMENT, or opportunity for it, as suggested by CHANCE. A CHANGE MAY be for the WORSE.

CLUES DOWN:

1. The clue implies that a soldier may, or may NOT, be issued one, which is true of MAP, but not true of CAP- EVERY soldier has a CAP.

4. You naturally associate a POLE with a foreign country; that is, with Poland; you associate the POPE with Rome and the Vatican, try-Italy.

7. Suggesting that this is "completely"beautiful, the clue favors ROSE, ROME, like every other city, is only beautiful in parts and certainly not "completely" so.

12. SITE is best. The rent would be DIRECTLY influenced by the SIZE, and would depend "to some extent" on the SITE.

13. A STRIDE IS a certain amount of progress. When a soldier gets a STRIPE it signifies promotion, and thus REPRESENTS progress. STRIKE is vague.

15. For "MAKING" the clue would be a fully adequate statement WITHOUT the addition of the words "on a trip," which, therefore, should be interpreted as a pointer to TAKING.

17. LOSES is preferred, LOVES is not as good since a man can LOVE the game and be merely a spectator. To LOSE one must be a player and only a player can improve.

21.In BED, children certainly do tend to take on an aspect of sweetness and innocence. RED is a relatively pointless answer. Why this color especially? It may not suit the child anyway.

Vice Presidential Fight Lends 'Double Feature' Air To Demo Convention

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, Aug. 17 (AP)—For most of the delegates at the Democratic convention today, it was a brand new experience to be seriously politicking over a vice presidential candidate.

It was like going to the movies and unexpectedly finding a double feature.

And they loved it.

This came about when Adlai Stevenson, having been nominated for president last night, told the delegates he would leave the choice of vice president to them.

The move caught most of them by surprise. There had been a certain amount of maneuvering this week, but it was more or less half-hearted because most thought Stevenson would quietly nod toward the man he wanted for his running mate.

Four years ago when the Democrats were about to choose their vice-presidential candidate, there weren't enough people in this hall to block an aisle.

But today the delegates came early and in force. Some of them had hangovers—the wide screen technicolor kind that traditionally follow a presidential nomination.

They found tons of placards, pictures, slogans and literature festooning the hall.

Reprints of an editorial from the New York Post plugging for Sen. Estes Kefauver had been placed in every seat. Banners that obviously had been prepared for Kefauver use when he was still a presidential candidate—and then trimmed—were ready in a hall outside.

Sen. John Kennedy's pleasant boyish face—somehow reminiscent of Will Rogers—smiled out of a large photograph also placed in the seats.

Arriving delegates quickly clustered in little groups. Some of the individual delegations had already reached their decisions. Emissaries moved back and forth through the hall trying to line up support for one man or the other. Congressman Edward P. Baldwin came down the aisle to the California delegation and went into a close head-to-head huddle with bald sunburned Rep. James Roosevelt.

Big Jim Farley, national chairman and political mastermind of the early Roosevelt era, plowed up and down the crowded aisles like a tank. He was working for Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City.

A Louisiana delegate said his state, and many delegates from other Southern states would support Kennedy.

I asked why. He grinned. "We like Kennedy," he said. "But besides we're interested in stopping somebody else."

The "somebody else" could have been either Humphrey or Kefauver. Both have taken positions regarding the civil rights issue that are not popular in the South. Nearby, a delegate from Wisconsin was having this exchange with a lady from Pennsylvania.

Wisconsin: "You can't get around it, Kefauver will pull votes all over the country, particularly in the Midwest."

Pennsylvania: "Yes, but you know as well as I do that Adlai prefers Hubert Humphrey. He would rather work with him in Washington than anybody else."

Wisconsin: "Okay, okay, but Adlai has to get to Washington first."

Wins Narrow

This was a new slap at the Republicans who apparently are all set to renominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon at San Francisco next week despite Harold E. Stassen's beleaguered effort to ditch him in favor of Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

At a secret caucus of the Texas delegation between the first and second ballots, Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn urged the state's delegates to back Kennedy. Texas had gone for Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement on the first ballot. Texas gave 56 votes to Kennedy.

After Kefauver's victory, Johnson turned to his aides and said: "Well, we tried our best."

Asked for comment, he said: "We have a good fighting ticket and I will support him (Kefauver) with enthusiasm." He said then that the final Texas caucus was divided between Kefauver and Kennedy with the majority favoring Kennedy.

Kefauver and Kennedy met backstage after the balloting in a crush of police officers and reporters. They shook hands and Kennedy asked: "Is it all right if I go out there" to address the delegates. Kefauver agreed.

Kefauver, with his pretty wife, Nancy, at his side, then went before the convention. The band blared "Dixie" as the nominee smiled and waved to the crowd.

He praised Kennedy as a great "young statesman" and thanked him for moving that his nomination be made unanimous. Kefauver also promised to campaign for the ticket "wherever" the Democrats think he can do the most good.

"I don't know how all of you feel, but I feel tired," Kefauver said. He recalled that he was on the track team at the University of Tennessee, and said that he had "never been in a race like this."

"Nor have I been in a race with such a fine and wonderful contender" as Sen. Kennedy, he said.

"I am very grateful to all of you who have supported me and to all of you who voted to make my nomination unanimous," he said.

He pledged to 'work the very best I can to win the election of a man who I am sure will go down in history as one of the great presidents of the United States."

Truman Reverses

satisfied with the results of this convention."

Mr. Truman had scolded Stevenson for being a "conservative" and for following a moderate course But Friday night he praised the Democratic nominee as the symbol of "a new leadership of maturity and wisdom."

After taking back practically everything bad he had said about Stevenson, Mr. Truman launched into an old-fashioned "give 'em hell" attack upon the Eisenhower administration.

He called on the Democrats to fight on seven fronts — "to save our resources . . . to save our farmers. . .to save the rights of labor. . .to save small business . . .to save our national defenses. . .to save the unity of the free world."

Mr. Truman accused the Republicans of letting the western alliance, erected under his administration, crumble.

"What the Communists, with all their violence, failed to do, is now being accomplished by the clumsy diplomacy of (Secretary of State) John Foster Dulles and the platitudes of President Eisenhower," he charged.

anywhere with his dump Nixon drive."

GOP National Charlaman Leonard W. Hall said "it doesn't make any difference" that Adlai Stevenson, in his first move as the Democratic presidential nominee, called attention in Chicago to the need for a careful choice of vice president in these times of increased pressure on the presidency.

Hall said Eisenhower and Nixon were a proven, experienced team and "deserve to be renominated."

Sen. Andrew J. Schoeppel, of Kansas, one of the new arrivals said, "There is no doubt in my mind that Ike wants Nixon."

Schoeppel, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, envisioned Republican Senate victories in Kentucky, West Virginia, Oregon and Nevada. He said that would restore GOP control of the Senate to further enhance a predicted Eisenhower-Nixon victory.

GOP subcommittees, finished with two days of hearings, worked behind closed doors today on rough drafts of platform planks to be offered for convention action Wednesday.

Their chairman already have disclosed these are expected to include a strong stand on civil rights, a promise to continue the flexible price farm program and to recommend tax relief for small business, among other things.

Two Parties Compliment Miss Blanchard

Among the prenuptial parties honoring Miss Jane Blanchard this week was a lingerie shower given by Miss Betty Hand and Miss Pat Patterson and a kitchen shower hosted by Mrs. Roy G. Colquette.

Artistic arrangements of summer flowers were featured throughout the party rooms of the Hand home on Masonic avenue when Miss Hand and Miss Patterson entertained for Miss Blanchard.

A white lace cloth covered the refreshment table centered with a silver bowl of multi - colored zinnias. White tapers in silver holders complemented the centerpiece.

Miss Blanchard chose for the party a beige cotton with brown accessories.

Guests, other than the hostesses and honoree, included Miss Mary Pat Welch, Miss Peggy Hines, Miss Jeanette Maynor, Miss Theda Pettigrew, Miss Dolores Gonzales, Miss Merilyn Magnon, Miss Marilyn Oldenburg and Miss Kathy Oldenburg.

Red and white carnations accented by miniature utensils formed a unique centerpiece for Mrs. Colquette's party between 4 and 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The honoree was wearing a becoming yellow sheath model with a corsage of carnations. Mrs. Colquette was attired in a blue printed silk.

Those invited were Mrs. Rosalie Marsala, Mrs. Betty Bushnell, Mrs. Louise Yeldell, Mrs. A. E. Henderson, Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, Mrs. Luther Power, Miss Sue Henderson, Miss Gladys Brady, Miss Ruth Newcomer, Miss Betty Hand, Miss Patsy Doane, Miss Merilyn Magnon, Miss Marilyn Oldenburg, Miss Kathy Oldenburg, Miss Corai Oldenburg and Miss Polly Power.

Bastrop Parties Center Around Summer Bride

Several Bastrop hostesses entertained last week for Mrs. Paul Storment, the former Miss Cecile Shamblin, whose wedding was an event of the past week end.

The home of Mrs. J. O. McConathy was the scene Wednesday morning at 10 of a conversational hour for Miss Shamblin when Mrs. Ed Fogle and Mrs. Olof Neal served as co - hostesses.

The mantel and dining table were adorned with bouquets of deep rose altheas. The honoree chose a frock of pink checked cotton with full skirt with a corsage of matching pink and white.

Sharing the occasion were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Sam Shamblin, Mrs. W. W. Storment, Misses Julia Nell McConathy, Elaine Neal, Corre Lynn Jacob, Betty Will Larche, Sue Snyder, Amelia Gay Pickett, Phyllis Brodnax, Betty Jo Stephenson, Janice Stelling, Jennie Kate Green, Linda and Melba Shamblin, Valleau Resweber and Mrs. C. H. Ables.

Mrs. Bill Carpenter and Mrs. J. C. Young complimented Miss Shamblin with a delightful one o'clock luncheon Wednesday at the Bayou DeSiard Country club. Invited were Misses Jennie Kate Green, Janice Stelling, Barbara Jo Stanley, Claire Worrell, Mrs. Victor Perry, Mrs. C. H. Ables, Miss LaDora Shamblin, Mrs. W. W. Storment and Mrs. Carl Addison.

Another congenial party for Miss Shamblin was the tea given Wednesday afternoon from five to six o'clock in the home of Mrs. Fred Robinson with Mrs. Ben Berry and Mrs. Luther Freeland as co-hostesses.

Bouquets of roses, hibiscus and calladium leaves were placed on the mantel and living room tables. A unique centerpiece for the dining table was created with the use of satin wrapped styrofoam in the form of an engagement ring with white periwinkle filling the base and the stone formed from blue asters. On either side of this were placed white wedding tapers and tiny wedding bell clusters.

Miss Thompson Is Feted During Engagement Days

Miss Linda Lou Thompson, whose marriage to Lafayette Victor Henderson, Jr., of Alexandria will be celebrated tomorrow afternoon in the First Baptist Church, was the inspiration for several parties this week.

On Thursday, Mrs. Hyman Liebriech honored Miss Thompson at luncheon, a bridal motif formed the center piece for the table.

The guests included with the bride- elect were, Miss Nell Bonelli, of Vicksburg, Miss Minette Smith, Mrs. Sam Smith, Miss Genev Wilson, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Roy Dickson and Mrs. J. A. Thompson, mother of the bride-to-be.

A luncheon, again yesterday, complimented Miss Thompson, with Mrs. Roy Dickson, hostess. The Rendezvous was the setting for the party and a crystal and silver bowl filled with pink and white asters formed the centerpiece for the table.

Places were marked for Miss Thompson, her mother, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Miss Ann Boyd, Miss Julia Bess Williams, Mrs. Jake Benton, Miss Joanne Carso, Miss Nell Bonelli, Mrs. John Volman and Mrs. R. W. Graves.

Last week, Miss Thompson was complimented at a shower given by Miss Sylvia Middlebrooks, in her home in Shreveport. Bouquets of yellow roses trimmed the reception rooms and the same blossoms with a miniature bride and groom centered the serving table in the dining room.

Mrs. Ray Middlebrooks assisted in serving.

Miss Thompson was wearing a pink cotton trimmed with pink lace inserts. The long torso bodice ended in a full skirt.

The guests were Mrs. James Oliver, Mrs. A. W. Gleason, Miss Sherry Fortson, Miss Diane Griffith, Miss Faye Dunn, Mrs. Fred May, Miss Ann Robertson, Miss Harvey Ann Roberts, Miss Thelma Jane McKinney, Miss Sandra McConnell, Miss Verna Hastings, Miss Joan Morris, Miss Betty Haye, Miss Martha Gillen, Miss Marjory Hedge and Miss Cecil Anne Oliver.

The bride was attired in a cool frock of white batiste with lace insertion and small tucks and a full skirt. With this she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and tuberoses.

In the receiving line was Miss Shamblin, her mother, Mrs. Sam Shamblin, Mrs. Warren Storment and Mrs. Fred Robinson.

Mrs. Luther Freeland greeted the guests at the door. Miss Claire Worrell presided at the guest book.

The tea girls serving were Miss Janice Stelling and Miss Jean Stark. Others assisting in the serving courtesies were Mrs. C. H. Ables at the punch service and Mrs. Henry Messinger and Miss Bennie Fay Berry.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX —

- Madam Chairman Needs Help
- Beau Losing Interest
- Heart On The Sleeve

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have appealed to you frequently in the past and your advice has always been helpful. Now that I'm confronted with a problem that isn't at all in your line, I'm still hoping you'll have an answer.

I have been elected to a responsible job in our church society and during the next year will have many suppers, teas, and refreshments to supervise. While I'm proud of the confidence placed in me, I'm afraid I may not live up to it, as I have very little experience in feeding crowds. Are there any suggestions you can offer?

Nancy C.

DEAR NANCY: First of all, get yourself a good committee. Next — and this is my solution to so many problems — get yourself a book.

When in doubt, go to the library. There's much more than entertainment in those stacked shelves.

Recently I came across a small book of 32 pages, called "Snacks and Meals for Club, Lodge, Church and Civic Groups." Realizing that it was the perfect answer to a problem shared by many clubwomen, I appealed to the publishers and they agreed to make it available to my readers. How's that for co-operation?

If you'll send a large (9"x4" or 6"x9"), self-addressed envelope bearing nine cents in stamps, you, or any other reader, may have a copy of the book. It will carry you from planning the meal through buying food, assembling equipment, cooking and serving. I'm sure it will answer all your questions.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I've been going with a soldier for six months. He comes home every week end and we see each other. The last couple of week ends he hasn't called. Shall I write, asking him what's wrong?

Linda F.

DEAR LINDA: Even at 16, one must learn the lesson that the best way to say good-bye to a dear romance is gracefully. Write this one off the list, and begin anew.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: To settle a dispute, could you please tell me the meaning of the phrase, "Wearing the heart on the sleeve?"

Tom

DEAR TOM: It simply means letting the whole world know where your love lies.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When my daughter-in-law comes to visit me she often takes off her shoes. I don't think it's proper to walk around a living room in stocking feet.

Gene

DEAR GENE: Alas, in this informal society of ours, many people have the almost unconscious habit of kicking off their shoes. Perhaps your daughter-in-law wears shoes too small. Try getting a pair of comfortable slippers for her, and suggest that she might be more at ease wearing them. If this doesn't work, and you have no greater complaint about the girl, overlook this one fault.

Good Grooming A Must When Looking For Job

A friend of mine is head of an employment agency and she often has mentioned her experiences in working with people. If you could hear her talk you would understand the importance of good grooming when you look for a job (and after you get one, too).

At no other time does personality and good grooming pay such big dividends as when looking for a job or being interviewed for one.

By this I do not mean that a well turned ankle makes up for skill. Reputable firms are scared to death by this approach.

Nevertheless, many young women fail to get jobs they had set their hearts on because of poor grooming. Maybe it was poorly cared for fingernails, or a slip that showed, a dingy collar, or shoes which needed polishing. The modern office is streamlined in efficiency and in appearance and the dowdy looking woman does not have a chance.

Naturalness is always an asset in social life, at home and in the office. Don't try to pose. Be yourself! In modern competition it takes brains, honesty, enthusiasm, good grooming and special training. Many capable people have missed the job for which they were fitted by training and temperament because of some one attribute which struck the boss as impossible. It may have been careless grooming, a bad breath, poor posture or self-consciousness which caused the downfall.

Don't be foolishly sabotaged by legs that cry for depilatories, by slumping posture, underarm odor or by overweight.

CAB Grants New Central Airline Routes In West

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—UP—The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday authorized Central Airlines, Fort Worth, to operate between Amarillo, Tex., and Wichita, Kan., and between Denver and Oklahoma City, with a number of intermediate stops.

The authorization will bring the first air service to Guymon, Okla., Liberal, Kan. and Lamar, Colo.

A CAB examiner had recommended that new air service in the area be divided between Central and Continental Airlines. But the CAB said the grant to Central holds "far greater prospects of meeting the service needs of the area involved."

The authorization, to run for three years, permits Central to operate between Amarillo and Wichita by way of Borger, Tex.; Guymon and Liberal and between Denver and Oklahoma City by way of Colorado Springs and Lamar, Guymon, Liberal and Enid, Okla.

REFUSES TO INDICT BETTY

DALLAS, Aug. 17—UP—A grand jury refused Friday to indict Betty Barry, 24, for killing Louis (Chicken Louis) Farrentello, 38, on July 17. She said that he was her lover. He was shot in his office behind a restaurant which he ran.

Public Official Dies Suddenly In Doctor's Office

COLUMBUS, Miss., Aug. 17 (AP) —Justice of Peace George Harris Lipscomb, 54, whose sister died in a freak accident last month, collapsed and died today in the office of a Columbus physician.

Lipscomb was in the doctor's office for a routine treatment. His sister, Miss Elise Lipscomb, died July 12 on St. Simon Island off the Georgia coast when she fell through a glass shower stall, cut her arm, and bled to death.

Lipscomb's late father, Dr. J. W. Lipscomb, was president of the Mississippi State Board of Health in 1930 and 1931.

Lipscomb had been justice of peace since 1954,when he ended 13 years service as city marshal and tax collector.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, George H. Lipscomb Jr., Greenwood, and Randolph Lipscomb of Columbus;his mother, Mrs. J. W. Lipscomb, Columbus; a brother, Dr. J.Walton Lipscomb, Jackson surgeon; and a sister, Mrs. Harry Long, Jackson.

'Dud' Dynamite Explodes; 2 Men Critically Hurt

CARTHAGE, Miss., Aug. 17 (AP) —A dynamite charge thought to be a dud exploded today in the faces of two Canton men, critically injuring both.

W. P. Adams, 45, and John L. Steen, 29, were taken to a Jackson hospital after emergency treatment by a Carthage doctor.

The two men and Everett Seals, Canton Negro, were blasting stumps on Mayor W. M. Chipley's farm three miles west of here. Seals said three sticks of dynamite placed in a stump failed to explode and the two white men placed a fourth charge alongside the three.

An explosion followed and Adams and Steen, bellving all four sticks had gone off, returned to the stump. Just as they knelt over the shattered stump the three "duds" burst.

A Carthage physician said Adams, apparently the more seriously injured, suffered a fractured skull and that his eyes and teeth were blown out.

Ward To Retire From U. S. State Department Post

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—UP—Veteran diplomat Angus Ward, one of the first Americans to feel the terror of a Chinese Communist prison cell, has retired from the U. S. Foreign Service after 31 years service.

While serving as American consul general at Mukden, China, in 1949, he was thrown in jail for 28 days by the Chinese Communists. He lived on bread and water while a prisoner.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Suits Against Publisher Killed By Texas Judge

LAREDO, Tex., Aug. 17—UP—Damage suits brought by C. B. W. Dick and A. W. Gates against publisher William Presscott Allen and the Laredo Times were dismissed Friday by 49th District Judge R. D. Wright.

The plaintiffs filed notice of appeal.

Allen and his newspaper, represented by attorney E. James Kazen, contended: (1) That the statements published in the Times last March were not libelous, and (2) even if they were, no reference was made to plaitiffs and there were no circumstances which would reasonably show intended reference to plaintiffs.

Dick and Gates both filed almost identical suits asking $50,000 actual and $450,000 exemplary damages each for statements carried in the Times.

Superintendent Of Winn Schools Accepts LSU Post

DODSON, Aug. 17 (Special) — Morris N. Abrams has resigned as superintendent of Winn Parish schools to become professor of vocational agricultural education at Louisiana State University, it was announced during a recent school board meeting.

Winnfield High school's football coach also resigned to accept another position.

Teachers announced for the Dodson school are: K. C. Simmons, Principal, J. Y. Terry, Miss Elga Sikes, Mrs. M. G. Gates, Mrs. K. C. Simmons, Mrs. Ruth Payne, Neil Taylor, Mrs. Lucille McCarty, Charles Lee Bates, Mrs. Chlotine Wyatt, Miss Glayds Walker, Mrs. Florene Kelly, Mrs. Maltha Kelly and Mrs. Mae Parker. Negro school teachers are Sadie Hollingsworth, principal, Dora B. Walker and Julia Lowiel.

Monorail To Be Built Between Ft. Worth, Dallas

HOUSTON, Aug. 17—UP—Plans to build a 39-mile long Monorail line between Dallas and Fort Worth were anounced Friday.

However, there was no indication when the line would be built.

Murel Goodell, president of Monorail, Inc., said the line would cost about $35 million. He said application would be made to the Railroad Commission after completion of a 4,000-foot line at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

Monorail is dismantling its pilot line system in Houston to remodel and rebuild it for the state fair in Dallas.

Promising Stock Market Fizzles As Volume Dips

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP) — A promising stock market rally fizzled into irregularity today on dwindling volume.

Sales of 1,720,000 shares were the lowest since July 2 and compared with 1,790,000 yesterday.

With only 1,094 issues traded it was the narrowest market since last Nov. 11.

In flurries of activity spaced throughout the early part of the session, steels, rails and coppers went ahead. At their best, pivotal issues made gains of 2 points or better.

By the close, however, the range of gains among the leaders was pared to about a point or so. Losses went about the same distance except for some special situations where they were wider.

Some aircraft issues awoke later in the session to make sizable advances as Glen K. Martin was heavily traded on the unofficial word of big contracts it has received in the intercontinental guided missile field and other activities. This stock headed the most-active list.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 20 cents to $188.60 with the industrial component down 40 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Corporate bonds were lower.

U. S. government bonds had the worst decline of the week in the over the counter market.

Nitro Exploded By Military Crew

FORT WORTH, Aug. 17—UP—A Carswell Air Force Base demolition crew blew up a secret cache of nitroglycerine jelly near the north end of Lake Worth Friday.

A mysterious telephone call from a man Thursday put Lake Worth Policeman Dutch Carroll on the trail of the jelly. The man told Carroll: "Don't ask any questions."

He told Carroll exactly how to find the explosive but refused to tell him who hid it. It was believed that the nitroglycerine jelly had been hidden away for use by safe crackers.

Carroll found eight ounces of the jelly in one of two fruit jars hidden in a hole. Both jars contained caps and wire. The Air Force demolition team exploded it.

"They said it was enough to demolish a five-room house," he said.

Store Sales Up

DALLAS, Aug. 17—UP— The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas Friday reported a 6 per cent gain in department store sales for the one-week period ended Aug. 11, compared with the same week a year ago.

El Paso showed the biggest gain for the week, 11 per cent. Houston sales were up 10 per cent, Fort Worth and San Antonio 3 per cent, but Dallas lost 1 per cent.

For the month, Houston showed a 10 per cent gain; El Paso 4 per cent; Dallas and Fort Worth 3 per cent, but San Antonio lost 2 per cent.

The first commercial television station in Australia is scheduled to begin regular transmission in September.

It takes 28 an hours of work to log, manufacture and distribute one thousand board feet of lumber.

MONROE

Judge W. M. Harper heard the following cases in court Friday.

Thomas R. Turner, 40, of 321 Stewart, Bastrop, was fined $500 and given a compulsory jail sentence of 125 days for driving under the influence of alcholic beverages.

Joseph Johnson, 23-year-old Negro of 100 Congo Street, was fined $200 for carrying a concealed weapon.

Sammy Lee Varner, 25-year-old Negro of 812 Adams Street, paid $100 for fighting without lawful cause.

A fine of $50 was collected from Nelson Gibson of 1223 DeSiard Street for resisting arrest.

Twenty traffic violators paid a total of $377 in fines, ten persons were fined a total of $280 for drunkenness, and a total of $162.50 in fines was collected from five persons for disturbig the peace.

WEST MONROE

Only three cases came before Judge Jasper Jones in court Friday.

Two persons paid a total of $9 for traffic violations, and one person paid a $15 fine for disturbing the peace.

Will Close Driver's License Offices

Louisiana Department of Public Safety officials announced this morning that all driver license issuing offices will be closed for the period August 30 through September 3. No driver or chauffeur licenses will be issued or renewed during this period.

All drivers whose birthdays occur or whose licenses expire during this period are requested to renew their licenses prior to Thursday, August 30. Drivers are reminded that driver or chauffeur licenses can be renewed as far as sixty days in advance with no loss of time to the applicant.

City School Board Accepts Contract To Rebuild Carver

The Monroe city school board has accepted the work of W. C. Salley for the rebuilding of the Carver Elementary School, which was heavily damaged by a fire in June of this year. The acceptance was made by the school board late Thursday.

Rivers and Heuer, architects for the job, requested the acceptance of the work.

The building suffered approximately $40,000 in damages when it was set on fire the first week of June. Investigation by the fire department, state fire marshall office and juvenile division of the Monroe police department later revealed that the blaze was started by a young Negro boy, who had been punished shortly before school closed in the spring.

Negroes Backing Boycott Of Texas Fair At Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 17—UP— A Negro youth organization annouced Friday it will conduct a statewide campaign to keep Negroes away from the State Fair of Texas in October on Negro Achievement Day.

Mrs. Juanita Craft, senior advisor of the Dallas Youth Council, said other councils over the state would be contacted in an effort to boycott the Fair. Mrs. Craft said there were some 40 youth councils over the state. They are affiliated with the NAACP.

On Negro Achievement Day last year, Dallas Negroes picketed the gates at all entrances trying to keep Negroes away. But the picketing had little effect on attendance.

The youths carried picket sigs charging that the Fair was "un-American, un-Christian and immoral."

The Dallas chapter received a citation for its boycott at the NAACP national convention in June in San Francisco.

The Youth Council is made up of Negroes at the high school and college level.

About 50 per cent of all Americans wear glasses, and it is estimated that 70 per cent should wear them.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving.

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment. AK105

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 70 cents a bale lower to 65 cents higher today.

Hedging and liquidation caused prices to dip at the start. The trend was later reversed in current crop months as trade buying turned more aggressive and in turn induced professional short covering.

A leading spot firm bought 3,000 bales of nearby December during the day and was also a small buyer of nearby October.

Distant 1957 crop deliveries were under light pressure of liquidation, with no particular factor behind the selling.

Traders noted that distant months had advanced substantially over the past few weeks, based on soil bank considerations and some profit taking was in order there.

Meanwhile, private crop reports continued to note serious drouth conditions over much of Texas which has caused cotton to deteriorate in many sections.

The New York Cotton Exchange service estimated domestic cotton consumption in the four week period July 1-28 at 510,000 bales against 812,000 in the preceding five weeks period and 565,000 in the four week period July 3-10 a year ago. Indicated consumption for the 52 week period from July 31, 1955 to July 28, 1956 approximated 9,108,000 bales. In the 1954-55 season consumption was 8,841,000 bales.

Cotton Letter

Futures were dull most of the session but livened late in the day with the trade again a buyer of the near months. This appeared to be chiefly a result of mill price fixing. Distant months encountered some hedging and commission house liquidation and the difference continued to widen. October and December 1957 were lower as a result of profit taking, perhaps on the announcement that the United States Department of Agriculture will make the provisions of the soil bank more difficult next season. It is believed Congress next session will thoroughly investigate the soil bank plan and attempt to eliminate it as chiefly a crop insurance plan and to prevent malpractice. Liverpool was up 12 to 23 cent points and with sterling at 278 1-3 differences Liverpool under New York were 391 to 467 cent points. As of August 10th unfixed call sales based on New York futures total 1,500,400 bales, an increase of 36,000 for the week versus 763,300 last year. The New York Cotton Exchange estimated total consumption of all cotton in the United States in the four weeks from July 28 at 510,000 bales versus 565,00 in the same period a year ago and 812,000 the previous five week period. The daily rate was 25,500, 28,300 and 32,500 respectively.

Lafayette Hands Monroe 2nd Loss In Row In Tenth

LAFAYETTE, La., Aug. 17 (AP)—Al Seegar's tenth inning single tonight scored pitcher Dave Stenhouse to give the Lafayette Oilers a 3-2 Evangeline League victory over Monroe.

The Lafayette - Monroe rivalry changes scenery tomorrow, the two clubs moving to Monroe's Legion Memorial Stadium to open a two-game series at 8 o'clock Saturday night. They're meeting in the second game Sunday as they make their last scheduled appearance of the season against each other.

Bill Zimmerman's bases empty home run in the bottom of the ninth inning for Lafayette tied the game 2-2. Bob Millard's double and Stenhouse's single scored one run in the third.

Monroe got its runs in the fourth inning on a double by hurler Dick [illegible]smith and a single by Blackie Millet.

The victory was the tenth straight for Lafayette.

Fred Caviness, Lafayette's leading hiter, has been suspended three days by manager Ken Raffensberger in a name-calling incident that followed Caviness' being fined $10 for ignoring a bunt signal yesterday.

BEATS DISCUS MARK

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17—UP—Triple winner Pamela Kurrell, 17-year old San Francisco high school senior, cracked the 24-year American standard for the discus toss to spotlight the record-smashing National AAU girls' track and field championships at Franklin Field Friday.

The muscular youngster tossed the discus 139 feet, one inch, to shatter the mark set by J. Wajsonwa of Poland.

Reds Crush Braves, 8-2, With Six-Run 8th Inning

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17 (AP)—Veteran Larry Jansen, the guy who does nothing but beat Milwaukee, did it again tonight, 8-2, with a seven-hitter as Cincinnati barged back into second place and trimmed the Braves' National League lead to 2½ games with a six-run, eighth inning powered by home runs by Wally Post and pinch-hitter Smoky Burgess.

The crafty 36-year-old righthander, who beat the Braves 8-1 just a week ago in his debut with the Redlegs after his recall from the minors, gave up a two-run homer to Ed Mathews in the first inning, but then put the Braves in his hip pocket the rest of the way.

Jansen, the one-time New York Giants ace who now has a 25-13 lifetime record against the Braves, walked only two and struck out seven — nailing pinch -hitter Wes Covington with a swinging third strike for the final out.

The Redlegs, who tied the score against rookie southpaw Taylor Phillips in a two-run fourth inning opened by Ted Kluszewski's 28th home run, broke a tight game wide open in the eighth to chase Phillips, a 23-year-old southpaw, with his first defeat in four decisions.

The big inning enabled the Redlegs to get in the first punch in a make-or-break four-game series with the Braves and hoisted them back into the runnerup spot (by three percentage points) over Brooklyn, beaten 3-2 at Philadelphia tonight.

South Carolina's Little Boys Beat Dothan In Finals

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 17 (AP)—Greenville, S. C., blanked Dothan, Ala., 11-0 tonight to win the Little Boys Dixie Series baseball championship.

Hurler Lewis Rasor gave up one hit, and Clark Cowsert hit a grand slam home run as Greenville took its fourth straight shutout victory in the tournament.

It was Greenville's second victory over Dothan. Carthel Crout pitched a no-hitter Wedesday as Greenville downed Dothan, 1-0.

Jackie McCall hit a bases empty homer for Greenville in the fifth inning, right behind Cowsert's four-run homer.

Five unearned Greenville runs scored in the first inning, and another in the fourth.

Billy Redd of Dothan got the only hit off Rasor in the sixth inning. Rasor struck out 10 and walked two.

Crocker Leading By Three Blows In Norwood Golf

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17 —UP— Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, shot a second-round 72 Friday for a total of 141 to take a three-stroke lead over Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., in the Norwood Hills women's open golf tournament.

Furgol, Burke Ahead By 3

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17—UP—Ed Furgol, the most handicapped tourney pro in history, and PGA champion Jack Burke, hit the halfway mark in the $35,000 Milwaukee Open Golf tournament with 11-under par 129s Friday to lead the field by three strokes.

Furgol and Burke both blasted a new [illegible] course record of 63 Thursday and added 66s Friday in the second round of the four-day 72-hole medal meet on Tripoli course.

Three strokes behind was Bill Casper Jr., of Chula Vista, Calif., with 68-65—132 and Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., who was next with 64-69—133. Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, and Babe Lichardus, of Hillside, N. J., had 134.

It was the second straight day the experts took the course apart. Forty-four golfers fired under par in the rainy first round and 38 beat par Friday.

Furgol, a 37-year-old St. Louis veteran with a withered left arm, got only one birdie and a 34 on his first nine Friday, but bore down with terrific drives and approach shots on the back nine for 32 and a total of 66.

"I played a better game today at least from tee to green," he said. "The only trouble was I had 33 putts," he said.

"If I had putted like I did yesterday I would have had about a 61," he said.

Burke, of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., skidded to one-over par 36 on his first nine but added a spectacular 30 in the way in.

He sank 12-foot putts for a birdie three on the 10th and another 12-footer for an eagle three on the 11th. He picked up another birdie three on the 14th. On the 17th, Burke hit the pin from 1,500 yards on his second shot and holed out a three footer and a birdie three.

Trailing the six leaders at 135 were Al Balding of Erindale, Can., Al Besselink, of Grossinger's, N.Y., and Jimmy Damaret of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

The leaders:

Regional Junior Legion Title Won By New Orleans

PONCHATOULA, La., Aug. 17 (AP)—New Orleans shook off the surprise of an ineligibility ruling and defeated Amarillo, Tex., 10-0 tonight to win the championship of Region Six in American Legion junior baseball for the second straight year.

The New Orleans team was ruled ineligible early today when Yazoo City, Miss., eliminated from the tournament last night, protested the New Orleans manager was not a member of the post sponsoring the team.

American Legion baseball didector Lou Brissie, former major league pitcher, ordered the New Orleans team reinstated on proof that manager Johnny Altobello was a member of the sponsoring event.

Jimmy Harwell tossed a five-hitter for his second triumph of the tournament and earned the most outstanding player award. He struck out ten and walked only two.

Rightfielder Gus Wenzel cracked a double and three singles in four trips and batted in three runs to lead the New Orleans attack.

The victory qualified New Orleans for the sectional tournament at Gastonia, N. C. The team will leave for Gastonia by plane Monday night.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

ADVERTISING IS NEWS, TOO!

People buy this newspaper for news of the world, the country and our community in particular. Our readers are also interested in news about food, clothes, entertainment, automobiles, furniture and all of the necessities and luxuries that have to do with daily living.

Through advertising in this paper you can give our readers the up-to-date news about your merchandise and services. Each one of your advertisements can be a newspaper within a newspaper.

Of course you should know all about the circulation of the newspaper that is carrying the news of your business. How many people buy the paper? Where are they located? How was the circulation obtained? To give you this information and many other facts that you need and have a right to know when you buy advertising space, this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Established in 1914, the Bureau is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,575 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Its purpose is to furnish advertisers with verified reports on the circulation of its publisher members.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced auditors makes a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records, just as the bank examiner makes a check of your bank's records. The information thus obtained is published in official A.B.C. reports. When you buy space in this newspaper our A.B.C. report tells you just what, in circulation values, you get for your advertising investment.

Needles Can Rule 3-Year-Olds With First Place Today

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Needles' claim to the 3-year-old championship can be accepted with near unanimity if he outruns such contenders as Swoon's Son, Ben A. Jones and Terrang in tomorrow's $100,000 added American Derby.

The 1 3-16-mile grass test major event for sophomores of the summer and has drawn a field of eight colts.

Needles, owned by Dudley and Heath Stable, is an early 6-5 choice.

The popular stretch-running son of Ponder, who won the 1949 American Derby, is top-weighted at 126 pounds as he tries to expand on a 1956 record that includes victories in the Florida Derby, Flamigo, Kentucky Derby and Belmont.

He was second to Fabius in the Preakness to miss the bid for racing's Triple Crown.

Calumet Farm's Fabius is being withheld from the American Derby. Trainer Jimmy Jones says the colt, a fourth-place finisher in the Arlington Classic and the Sheridan Handicap in his only two Chicago starts this summer, is a little stale.

Four Ex-Champs In Semi-Windup Of Essix Tennis

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP)—All four former champions in the original field of 32 remained today as the 29th annual Essex County Club Women's Tennis Tournament narrowed to the semi-finals.

They included top-seeded Shirley Fry, St. Petersburg, Fla., defending champion, to play Unseeded Mrs. Betty Rosenquest Pratt, Jamaica, B.W.I. The second semi-final will pair second seeded Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif 1942 Essex winner, and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont, Wilmington, Del., champion here in 1941, 1949 and 1950.

The unseeded Mrs. Dupont, idle from singles last year, provided today's top upset with 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 victory over first seeded Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif.

Orioles Dump Yanks On Williams' Slam

4th Inning Blow Hands Baltimore 6 To 4 Triumph

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP)—Dick Williams hit a grand-slam home run in the fourth inning and Ray Moore pitched tight ball in the clutches tonight as the Baltimore Orioles racked up a come - from-behind 6-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

Second - place Cleveland's loss to Kansas City in another night game left the New Yorkers still 9½ games on top in the American League pennant chase.

After a shaky first inning in which the Yankees took a 3-0 lead, Moore settled down to pitch his first victory over the league champions in six decisions over a two-year-period.

He held them to eight hits, walked four and struck out five in registering his ninth victory against six losses this season. One of the strikeout victims was Mickey Mantle, who was looking for his 43rd home run of the year and first in Memorial Stadium but went 0-4. He still is 10 games ahead of the pace set by Babe Ruth in 1927 when the Babe set his homer record of 60.

Phils Use Bases-Loaded Pass To Whip Bums, 3-2

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (AP)—Brooklyn's Clem Labine gave up a walk with the bases loaded in the ninth inning tonight to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 victory over the pennant - conscious Dodgers before 25,005 at Connie Mack Stadium.

Brooklyn, ahead 2-0 from the third inning, looked like an easy victor with Roger Craig all set to chalk up his 12th victory on a four-hit shutout.

Then the Puillies opened up. Marv Blaylock walked, Del Ennis was safe when Jackie Robinson booted his grounder and Willie Jones walked to load the bases.

Labine relieved Craig and immediately gave up a single to Elmer Valo, with Blaylock and Mack Burk, who was running for Ennis, racing home to tie the game.

Gran Hamner was intentionally walked to load the bases once again. Then Labine gave the game away by walking Smalley.

Summer Tan Tops Field Of 8 Nags In Whitney Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 17 —UP— Mrs. John W. Galbreath's Summer Tan, still looking for his first victory since the spring of 1955, headed a field of eight horses entered Friday for the 29th running of the $40,000 added Whitney Stakes Saturday.

Summer Tan carries high weight of 120 pounds against Christiana Stable's Thinking Cap, L. Maloney's Ace Marine, Mrs. Jan. Burke's Dedicate, James C. Brady's Artismo, each at 116 pounds; W. J. Beattie's Park Dandy at 112; and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs entry of Paper Tiger 112; and Searching, 111.

Eric Guerin rides Summer Tan, second to Mister Gus in the Arlington Handicap in his last start. Bill Boland handles Dedicate, the game little colt expected to give Summer Tan the most trouble in the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Canada Sure Of Own Amateur Golf Crown

EDMUNDSTON, N.B., Aug. 17 (AP)—Unorthodox Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., and methodical Jerry Magee of Toronto decisively defeated two Americans in the semi-finals today to lock up the 1956 Canadian Amateur golf championship for Canada.

Norman, the 1955 winner, and Magee, Ontario Willingdon Cup captain, meet tomorrow in a 36-hole match for the title.

Norman reeled off 13 birdies before setting down John Miles of Mamaroneck, N.Y., 8 and 7.

Magee was almost as effective. He whipped New England amateur champion Art Butler of Portsmouth, N.H., 7 and 6.

Larry Williams, rookie from Xavier University with the Chicago Cardinals, reported to pre-season camp weighing 274 pounds.

Junior Linksmen Launch Practice For Jaycee Meet

FARGO N.D., Aug. 17 (AP)—Some 200 of the nation's top young golfers take their first practice swings tomorrow in preparation for the opening Monday of the 11th annual International Jaycee Golf Tournament.

They will continue practice rounds Sunday, followed by 18-hole qualifying rounds Monday and Tuesday on Fargo's tree-studded par-72 Edgewood Municipal course.

The top 100 qualifiers tee off next Wednesday for the first of four 18-hole rounds of medal play. Top prizes include $1,000 scholarships for the winner and runnerup, and a $500 grant for the golfer voted best sportsman.

The tourney will have entrants from all 48 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii.

Australia Places 3 In Semi-Finals Of Newport Play

NEW PORT, R. I., Aug. 17 (AP)—Australia's representation in the semi-final singles of the Newport Tennis tourney rose to three today as top-seeded Ken Rosewall defeated Grant Golden, Willmette, Ill., 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, after Neal Fraser had squeezed by his Aussie associate, Mal Anderson, 7-5, 2-6, 12-14, 6-3, 6-4.

Yesterday Cooper led the Australia charge into the next-to-last round by routing Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif., 7-5, 6-1, 6-1. In the semi-finals tomorrow Cooper collides with second-seeded Ham Richardson, Westfield, N.J., tourney champion for the past two years.

The fourth-seeded Fraser, whose margin in number of games today over unseeded Anderson was exactly one, or 33-32, will oppose Rosewall for the other spot in the finals.

Fraser, son of a Melbourne judge, found Anderson, 21-year-old cattle puncher who played his first tennis on a dirt court behind the barn on his father's ranch, no country cousin. Loss of the first set after erasing a 5-2 deficit, did not discourage Anderson, who scored two service breaks for the equalizer and went ahead in the third set decided as Fraser's delivery was fractured on the 25th game after service had been supreme 17 times in a row.

2 Battles Today Launch Canadian Pro Grid Season

EDMONTON, Manatoba, Aug. 17 (AP)—Canada's professional football season gets under way tomorrow night with two games in the Western Interprovincial Football Union after some rather surprising exhibition results and some frantic efforts by the coaches to sort out their "imports" from the United States and get their squads down to the limits.

Near - capacity crowds are expected at Edmonton where the champion Eskimos play the Saskatchewan Rough Riders, and at Calgary where the Stampeders play host to the British Columbia Lions. The Eskimos won the Gray Cup, emblematic of the Canadian pro championship, the past two years.

The fifth W.I.F.U. club, the Winipeg Blue Bombers, will be idle Saturday. In the east, the Big Four League starts its season Wednesday night when the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders clash at Hamilton. The Montreal Alouettes, Big Four champions for the past two seasons and favorites again this year, open against the Toronto Argonauts at Montreal Saturday, Aug. 25.

Edmonton beaten by Montreal and Ottwa in exhibition games, has been drilling under the lights in an effort to regain the smooth teamwork that won two successive championships. Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy expects several of his injured players to be fit for the opener. But Jackie Parker, nursing a bruised knee, may have to go all the way at quarterback since reserve Don Getty has a sprained ankle.

Saskatchewan Coach Frank Filchock released three imports and four Canadians Wednesday but still has 43 players in camp, including 18 Americans. The limit is 23 Canadians and 12 imports. Saskatchewan also lost to Montreal and Toronto in the east.

Calgary's Stampeders were strengthened yesterday with the signing of Jim Cain, a six-year veteran of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League. Carl Mayes, former Texas halfback who has been trying out with the B.C. Lions, also joined the Calgary squad.

Coach Clem Crowe of the B.C. Lions has a problem deciding which of his imports to keep. Holdover Arnie Galiffa has a slight edge at quarterback over newcomer Tony Teresa of San Jose State College. Former U.C.L.A. star Paul Camero is a possibility in the backfield but is not expected to be ready for the opener. Ed Vereb of Maryland is likely to catch on at halfback.

2 FROM TWIN CITIES

Monroe and West Monroe are represented by Jackie Rivers and Eddie Watkins, who left here by plane Thursday, in the Jaycees International golf tourney at Fargo. Rivers is the Louisiana state champion, and Watkins is No. 3 man on the state team that includes Wayne Barcelo, No. 2, and Freddy Weiss, No. 4, both of New Orleans.

SAWADA UPSETS DONNELL

TOKYO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Former Orient lightweight champion Jiro Sawada of Japan slammed an upset decision over Hawaii's Abdel Donnell in a brutal 10-round nontitle bout tonight. Sawada weighed 137¼. Donnell weighed 135.

Giovanelli, Poirier Matches For Sept. 3

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Middleweights Danny Giovanelli, Brooklyn and Gene Poirier, Niagara Falls, N.Y., will meet in a return 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena, Sept. 3, matchmaker Teddy Brenner announced today. The bout will be telecast.

Giovanelli got off the floor to stop Poirier in the eighth round of a spectacular scrap on July 23 at the same arena.

Eddie Arcaro, Earl Sande and the late George Woolf were the first three jockeys placed in Pimlico's Hall of Fame.

DEADLINE — Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn receives the over 3000 copies of the Louisiana Jaycees News, which is now being published monthly here, with favor. Editors Pete Dowd and Dave Russell, opposite the counter from Hathorn, bring the paper to post, adding an additional $525 to the local post office in revenue annually. (Staff Photo by Greg Hare)

NEWS IN THE MAKING — Editors Pete Dowd and Dave Russell, behind the typewriter, are pictured editing and writing the Louisiana Jaycee News, the state publication of all Louisiana Jaycee activity. The News rolled off the press recently for the second edition here and was mailed to some 2500 Jaycees in the state, in addition to 500 in the 48 states, Hawaii, Canada and Hong Kong. (Staff Photo by John Oldenburg)

Louisiana Jaycee Journal Is Published In Monroe

The Twin Cities have a new application that just recently went to press with its second edition, which was sent to every state in the country Hawaii, Canada and even as far away as Hong Kong.

Known as the Louisiana Jaycee News, the paper covers 55 Junior Chambers of Commerce in Louisiana, in addition to accomplishments and happenings of other Jaycee chapters throughout the land.

The whole cause for publishing a Jaycee newspaper here came when James C. (Jake) Ussery, a local Jaycee, was elected president of the state chapter.

Thus, Pete Dowd of the Monroe chapter and Dave Russell of the West Monroe Jaycees were appointed by Ussery to edit the new paper.

It's not the first time that the Jaycee News has been published in the Twin Cities, for back when Jack Howard (new mayor) was head of the state group the News originated here.

Then there were only 27 chapters with 1800 or more Jaycees on the mailing list. Time has passed and with it the Jaycees have progressed into a total state membership of 2500.

In addition approximately 500 Jaycees receive a copy of the Louisiana paper in cities all over the world. The News is published monthly and contains four pages.

Editors Dowd and Russell collect news from local newspapers of Jaycee towns, receive special stories from publicity chairmen all over the state and also releases from publicity chairmen of the nine regions.

One Monroe man—Postmaster Woodrow Hathorn realizes the importance of having the News printed here.

"This is a big step for the local Jaycees and the post office is glad to assist in getting this news throughout the state," he said.

"Having the paper edited and mailed here in our city will mean an extra $525 in postal revenue receipts this year," Hathorn added.

Editors Dowd and Russell said that they believe that the publishing of the News here means a great deal to Monroe and West Monroe.

They said it attracts more business and adds revenue, in addition to making Monroe the hub of all state Jaycee activities.

It adds more glory to the local chapters that produced state officers. So it's true then that Jaycee news is being written in the Twin Cities.

Morehouse Report States Child Died Of Malnutrition

BONITA, Aug. 17 (Special) — One - month - old Margaret Coleman, daughter of George Coleman, Negro, Bonita, died of malnutrition Thursday morning at home, Dr. J. N. Jones, Morehouse parish coroner, declared Friday.

Dr. Jones described the infant as "just skin and bones." He said it weighed about seven or eight pounds, and measured about 22 inches. Dr. Jones added that the baby probably hadn't gained an ounce since it was born.

The coroner said that the baby was fed by a bottle and apparently the milk did not agree with the infant and the parents had not put the child under a doctor's care.

The parents woke up Thursday morning to find the baby in a dying condition, he related. It died shortly afterwards.

A carpenter contractor in Bonita constructed a coffin for the baby's body and burial was held Thursday.

Coleman, who is a farmer, has four more children and all appear to be well nourished, the doctor said.

Dr. Jones said that no criminal charges will be pressed against the couple.

Examiner Okays Gas Rate Boost

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (Special) — Federal Power Commission Examiner Emery J. Woodall okayed a $1,070,668 annual wholesale natural gas rate increase affecting 14 customers in Louisiana and Mississippi by Olin Gas Transmission Corp., of Monroe, La.

Woodall's decision is subject to review by the full commission.

The increase was origially suspended by FPC in March, 1955, but has been in effect—subject to refund by Olin—since August 15, 1955.

Woodall's decision, if upheld, would permit Olin to retain the amounts collected subject to refund.

Woodall okayed a minimum field price of 10 cents per thousand cubic feet for gas produced and delivered at a central point in the Monroe field in order to "provide an incentive for Olin to carry on exploration activities to develop additional gas supplies...."

Show, Luncheon To Raise Funds For Scholarship

A style revue and luncheon will be given by the Bobashelas Book Club in the Crystal ballroom of the Virginia hotel Tuesday, and the proceeds will be used to establish a scholarship for a West Monroe student at Northeast State College. Tickets are $2.00.

Fall fashions will be shown, including back-to-school clothes, after five dresses, cocktail gowns, date dresses, coats and suits, and formals.

Styles will be modeled by Mrs. J. R. Mouton and Miss Wanda Mouton, Mrs. Ed Hislop and Miss Millie Hislop, Mrs. W. M. Brown, Mrs. C. B. Edwards, and Misses Nancy Clayton Calhoun, Linda Steele, Janet Cash, Anita Dell Allen, Betty Britt, and Jo Marie Ellett.

Miss Carol Eady, accomplished musician, will play the background music for the style showing. She will also accompany Mrs. Roy Brooks, who will give two vocal solos during the luncheon hour.
